Egypt Asks Atrocity Probe

Britain Orders Oil Rationing

Crisis-Swollen Army To Be Cut

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The prospect of a cheerless and chilly Christmas was brought home to Britons today with the imposition of oil rationing.

Orders went out to cut motorists down to a basic 200 miles of driving a month—less than seven miles a day. Apartment houses and other nonindustrial buildings with central heating will have their gas-diesel oil supplies cut by a third, their fuel oil by a fourth.

But all the news was not bad. The government announced it will begin Thursday to demobilize men from army ranks swollen when Egypt seized the Suez Canal. It also agreed to the entry of U.N. police forces into Port Said, paving the way for a retreat from Egypt.

Austerity Specter Raised

These developments came about with Prime Minister Eden confined to his home, ill of physical and nervous exhaustion. A physician visited him twice today. There was speculation his days in office may be numbered.

The oil rationing grows from a shortage due to blocking of the Suez Canal. Britain and France blame Egypt for the actual blocking, but Egypt acted only after the two powers had attacked the Suez Canal zone—in an announced effort to safeguard the canal.

The order rationing oil brought with it the specter of austerity that hung over the nation's larder and industry during World War II and its aftermatch.

Rationing Starts Dec. 17

Rationing will begin Dec. 17, Fuel Minister Aubrey Jones announced in the House of Commons to the jeers of opposition Laborites.

The public transportation systems will be affected less severely. Employers are being asked to stagger working hours to ease the strain at peak travel periods.

The secretary of state for war, John Hare, said Britain will cut its crisis-swollen army by 6,000 men in the next 23 days. Half will be regular troops whose enlistments had expired but whose release had been deferred. Half will be civilians called up during the emergency.

MAY JOIN IKE TEAM—Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts leaves a plane in Washington after White House disclosure yesterday that Herter may join the Eisenhower team after his term ends in January. The governor said he had no knowledge of any impending federal appointment. (AP Photofax)

Gov. Herter May Join Ike's Team At Term's End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The White House disclosed today that Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts may join the Eisenhower team after his term ends in January.

It also was announced that President Eisenhower has accepted the resignations of Roswell B. Perkis as assistant secretary of health, education and welfare; and William H. Jackson as presidential assistant for national security affairs.

Question Put To Hagerty

Asked about the possibility of Herter being recruited by the administration, James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he would have to put it this way:

"He is and will be governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts until the end of this year. Certainly his great talents and services, I would hope, would be used in some way and not be lost to the country."

Herter is the man Harold E. Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aide, boomed for the Republican vice-presidential nomination last summer as a substitute for Vice President Nixon. Herter said he would refuse the nomination, however, and he ended up by placing Nixon's name in nomination.

Possible Envoy To Britain

There has been speculation that Herter might succeed Winthrop Aldrich as ambassador to Great Britain if Aldrich steps out. Hagerty wouldn't say whether anything like that was under consideration.

Another report was that Herter might replace Jackson as a security adviser but Hagerty told reporters, "I wouldn't go too far with that one."

Herter could not be reached for comment.

Kasper Freed Of Riot Charge

CLINTON, Tenn., Nov. 20 (AP)—Segregationist John Kasper, 27, was acquitted today of charges of sedition and inciting to riot stemming from disorders following racial integration of Clinton High School.

An all-male jury in County Criminal Court returned its verdict freeing the Washington, D. C. White Citizens Council leader after deliberating 45 minutes.

Before handing the case to the jury, Judge D. O. Hutson overruled defense motions for a directed verdict of innocence and dismissal of the sedition charge.

The charges arose from Kasper's activities last August in trying to halt racial integration of Clinton High.

The state accused Kasper of fanning into mob violence latent anti-integration feeling over admission of 12 Negroes along with 700 white students to previously all-white Clinton High. The Negroes were admitted on order of the U.S. District Court.

Specifically, Kasper was accused of advocating disregard of constituted authority and tending to "incite a riot."

New Comet Discovered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Nov. 20 (AP)—Two Belgian astronomers have reported a new comet, eighth discovered this year, Harvard Observatory said today.

The new comet, named Arend-Roland for its discoverers and otherwise identified as 1956-H, was discovered Nov. 6.

Soviet Ousts Newsman

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A New York Times correspondent, Welles Hange, has been asked to leave Soviet Russia by Nov. 28. A Moscow broadcast tonight said Hangen had violated "the rules of conduct for foreign correspondents in the U.S.S.R."

His offense, the broadcast said, "took the form of photographing hydrotechnical installations, which are not permitted to be photographed."

62 Hungarian Refugees To Arrive In U.S. Today

CAMP KILMER, N.J., Nov. 20 (AP)—Sixty-two Hungarian refugees are flying to the United States tonight to live in a freedom first celebrated 336 years ago by the Pilgrim fathers. They are due at noon tomorrow.

Their plane will be followed by four others expected to arrive Thursday and Friday.

The escapees from Soviet terror are among 5,000 Hungarians to be admitted to this country under White House orders for resettlement here.

A silver, blue and red DC4, chartered by the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration from the Flying Tigers, left Vienna today. Aboard were 41 Hungarians with 19 more picked up at Munich.

The four - engine plane will land at McGuire Air Force Base where new arrivals will be greeted by Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker and New Jersey Gov. Robert Meyner. Army buses will then bring them here.

A second planeload of refugees is expected at McGuire Thursday and two more Friday. A fifth plane goes to Milwaukee Friday where the refugees are expected to participate in a free Hungary celebration on Sunday.

After two years in mothballs, this base was reactiviated hurriedly for use as a reception center for the Hungarians. They'll be processed by immigration officials, given a medical check by the U.S. Public Health Service, and then fed a special dinner prepared by Army chefs of Hungarian extraction.

Police Force Operations Satisfy Dag

Reports On Mideast Trip Are Approved By Advisory Group

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold will report to the U.N. Assembly his general satisfaction with the entry of the U.N. peace patrol into Egypt and its use so far, diplomats said tonight.

He will report also that he has asked Britain, France and Israel when they plan to withdraw from Egypt. They have not answered.

The diplomats, who would not be identified, said that a seven-nation advisory committee had finally approved three reports by the U.N. secretary general based on his trip to Egypt and developments to date. They said these reports were:

1. A summary of his talks with Egyptian President Nasser and his observations on the spot. No agreements were reached with Nasser. Nasser's views on the use of the force were recorded.

Reopening Canal Big Job

2. An account of negotiations for salvage operations by Scandinavian and other European companies to clear the Suez Canal of obstructions. It is estimated this will be a task lasting five months or more.

3. A factual account of messages from Hammarskjold to Britain, France and Israel noting the U.N. Assembly resolutions calling on them to withdraw from Egypt, noting that they have not done so, and asking when they plan to comply with the Assembly request.

British and French sources said they had nothing to say at this time. They said they have not seen the completed text and that when it is received any reaction would have to await decisions by the cabinets in London and Paris.

Wording Delays Report

Israel sources had no comment.

Disagreement between Hammarskjold and his advisory committee was reported to have held up the report on the Middle East police force and the related documents. Diplomats said some members of the committee objected to the vague wording used by Hammarskjold.

One instance was said to have been an indication that Nasser would have the final word on where the police force could be used in Egypt. After an afternoon meeting with the advisory committee, it was reported the language had been made satisfactory.

Jordan Nears Western Break

AMMAN, Jordan, Nov. 20 (AP)—Parliament urged today without a dissenting vote that King Hussein break the old military subsidy alliance with Britain and set up relations with Russia and Red China.

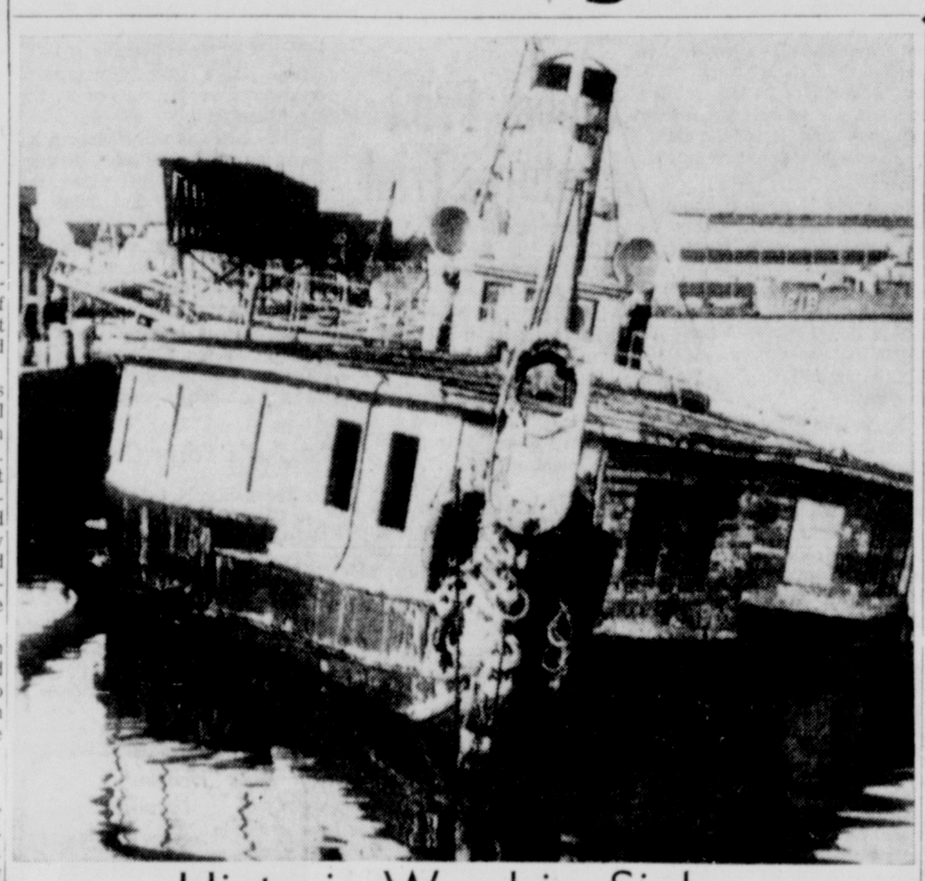

In an almost simultaneous development, Premier Suleiman Nabulsi told an interviewer Jordan will establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union "when it suits her (Jordan's) interests" but added: "We will do our best not to become Communists."

The Premier praised President Eisenhower.

The break with Britain would end a long alliance that was rooted in the first World War and that involved such historic figures as Winston Churchill, the late T. E. Lawrence, the late King Abdullah and Gen. John Bagot Glubb.

Glubb, creator of the Jordan Arab Legion, was fired last winter by King Hussein.

U.S. Will Help Europe To Meet Oil Emergency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The United States was reported today to have pledged cooperation with 17 Western European countries to help meet their emergency demands for oil from the Western Hemisphere.

Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., informants said, gave this assurance to Italy's Ambassador Manlio Brosio. The ambassador appealed for swift American aid to prevent a shortage of Middle East oil from crippling Europe's industries.

Combined Requirement Plan

Hoover is understood to have promised such American assistance but only after European countries get together and decide how much oil is needed for the entire region and what shipping is available.

Once such a combined requirement plan has been submitted, Hoover expressed readiness to give it prompt and favorable consideration in the light of America's capacity to step up fuel shipments overseas.

An emergency oil shipment plan was drafted last August in connection with the Suez Canal crisis. This calls for delivery of 500,000 to 1,100,000 extra barrels of oil daily to Western Europe.

Arab Anger Feared

This government, however, has hitherto been reluctant to rush emergency oil supplies to Europe even though the Suez Canal has been blocked and the flow of oil through Middle East pipelines interrupted. Top officials have deliberately delayed, fearing the Arabs would interpret such shipments, which would go mainly to Britain and France, as American support for the British-French invasion of Egypt.

Authorities also have feared "premature" American oil deliveries might so anger the Arabs that they would blow up pipelines still operating and wreck oil installations, causing a worldwide oil crisis of major proportions.

Possible Mystery Meeting Called Off

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The White House stirred up a bit of mystery today by saying President Eisenhower might hold some special kind of a conference Friday.

Just as mysteriously, it said later that the meeting would not be held.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty, in first mentioning the possible meeting, refused to tell reporters what it would be about.

Syria Cuts Off Oil

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 20 (AP)—Syria announced tonight the cancellation of all contracts with British and French companies and barred piping of oil for Western Europe.

Court Order To Halt Dock Strike Planned

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The federal government tonight was reported about ready to seek a court order to stop the five-day multimillion dollar Atlantic and Gulf Coast longshoreman's strike.

The walkout has closed all East and Gulf Coast ports, except for military shipments, and the government in Washington was reported under mounting pressure by harried shippers.

President Eisenhower's administration was reported actively considering two alternate courses of going into court for injunctions to stop the strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Assn.

One of the courses would involve action by the President to invoke the national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. These provide for an 80-day court order against continuing the strike.

No Plans To Invoke T-H

On this score, however, Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said "So far as I know there are no plans as of this moment to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act."

The other course being considered—perhaps a more likely one in view of Snyder's comment—was via the National Labor Relations Board. It would be based on charges brought some weeks ago by the New York Shipping Assn. which complained that the ILA had violated the T-H law by insisting on bargaining for a coast-wide labor contract.

NLRB Gets Probe Report

The NLRB has several times ruled the New York harbor area alone is the proper bargaining unit for the association and ILA. The union has traditionally made separate contracts in each port.

The NLRB at Washington said tonight it has finally received a report from its New York office on an investigation of these charges and T. C. Kammholz, the NLEB's general counsel, now is giving them "active consideration."

Most Of Nation Will Have Fair But Cold Holiday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (INS)—The Weather Bureau reported today that the outlook on Thanksgiving Day will be generally fair and unseasonably cold weather for most of the U. S.

Mild, rainy weather is forecast from Alabama and Georgia to the mid-Atlantic states. A blanket of cold air in the north east will bring an end to showery weather in the North Atlantic states.

The bureau said snow flurries will continue over the central and northern Appalachians while cold winds, cloudy skies and light snow are expected in the Great Lakes area, with some flurries likely in the lower Missouri Valley.

Beirut Swept By Violence

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 20 (AP)—Widespread violence has broken out in Beirut, capital of Arab Lebanon, and the Lebanese army was called on today to restore order.

Tanks were seen patrolling the Beirut streets after unidentified persons bombed the French-owned Bank of Syria and Lebanon early today.

Two gendarmes were wounded in the bombing and serious damage was done to the building reports from Beirut said. Strict censorship prevails in Lebanon.

Earlier Syrian newspapers reported two unsuccessful attempts to blow up the Lebanese presidential palace and the Foreign Ministry building in Beirut.

The papers said Lebanese security authorities recently discovered a time bomb under the reception hall of the presidential palace. Another was found near the Foreign Ministry building. Both bombs were removed in time to prevent damage.

Unidentified persons also recently bombed the British Bank of the Middle East and the British St. George Club in Beirut.

Marilyn Heads Home

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Marilyn Monroe gave a big kiss tonight to Sir Laurence Olivier and another to his actress wife, Vivien Leigh, and flew off to the United States.

Marilyn was guided through a large crowd at London Airport by her husband, playwright Arthur Miller. Authorities had mobilized 71 extra policemen.

Unexpected Move Upsets Soviet Bloc

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Non-Communist diplomats—bolstered by surprise support from neutral Asia—chorused demands today that U.N. observers be admitted into war-torn Hungary.

As the 79-nation General Assembly continued a new round of debate on the Hungarian question, delegate after delegate from both Asia and the West, called on Hungary's Red rulers to throw open their frontiers to the United Nations.

Burma, Iraq, Australia, New Zealand and Israel added their weight to the mounting pressure for an on-the-spot check.

Hungary Rebuffed Move

Hungarian authorities have flatly refused to let in U.N. investigators. But they have said they would allow U.N. representatives to bring relief supplies into the satellite.

What had been considered a token move in view of the adamant Soviet bloc position, gained impetus when neutral India, Ceylon and Indonesia suddenly abandoned their aloof stand and joined in the move. They put in a resolution calling on Hungary's pro-Kremlin government to accede to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's request that U.N. personnel be permitted to investigate.

The Asian appeal caused open delight among the Western powers who had not counted on such support. But it caused deep concern among the Soviet bloc who had gone into the debate expecting silence—if not support—from the Asian bloc.

Cuban Resolution Backed

Red diplomats were further shaken by reports that members of the Arab-Asian bloc had decided to support Cuba's strong resolution calling for a halt to mass deportation of Hungarians and accusing the Soviet Union of genocide.

Iraq's Fadhil Jamali informed the Assembly his delegation would support both the Cuban and Asian resolutions.

Burma's U Pe Pin, in a surprisingly strong speech, condemned the alleged Soviet deportation of Hungarians and threw his support behind Cuba's resolution.

Bodies Of Two Airmen Found

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The bodies of two Air Force men missing since the crash of a twin-engine transport plane into the Potomac River Sunday were recovered today.

Bolling Air Force Base said the body of Maj. Gen. James C. Selser Jr., 44, deputy director of a National Security Council subcommittee, was found by an unidentified civilian volunteer who had joined the searchers.

The body of Maj. Jose Blondet, 34, commander of the 1104th Base Flight Squadron at Bolling, was recovered by Floyd L. Elmore and George R. West Jr., of Alexandria, both civilian firemen at Fort Belvoir.

War Crimes Investigation By U.N. Urged

Norwegian Police Troops Will Move To Port Said Today

CAIRO, Nov. 20 (AP) — Egypt asked the U.N. tonight to investigate its charges that invading British, French and Israeli forces committed atrocities on civilians.

An official statement forwarded to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said the Egyptian government wants the U.N. to set up a committee "for the purpose of investigating into the barbarous aggression."

While Egypt pressed its charges, a company of Norwegian U.N. police troops prepared to move into Port Said tomorrow to try to ease tension between the Egyptians and occupying British-French forces.

The Egyptians have raised the charges of atrocities before and they have been denied by the British, French and Israeli governments.

Press Wants Eden Tried

Now, the official statement said, Egypt proposes that the U.N. investigate the charges in cooperation with the International Red Cross.

"The Egyptian government demands the aggressors should be punished so that the world may live in peace. If they are left unpunished for their crimes, aggression will be repeated in a more violent manner," the statement said.

It did not specifically call for a war crimes trial, as demanded in the Egyptian press. The press wants Prime Minister Eden of Britain to be tried.

The government charged British and French forces in Port Said "violated mansions, fired without discrimination on peaceful women and children in their homes, robbed civilians and compelled them to work by force of arms."

The statement accused Israel of killing large numbers of civilians "without reason other than savage revenge."

More Police Forces On Way

More U. N. police forces were flying into Egypt. The U.N. office in Cairo said 696 officers and men were now here.

Troops of eight nations accepted for the force now total about 4,000. Many of them are en route.

The police force's first task is to try to allay the boiling tensions in Port Said, northern entrance to the Suez Canal.

The Norwegian soldiers moving into Port Said have nothing to do with any withdrawal of British and French forces from Egypt, it was announced. Britain, France and Egypt all agreed to the move.

The U. N. task force of 192 Norwegians, under command of Norwegian Maj. Wiik and lightly armed, will leave Abu Swueir, former British air base, tomorrow and go by train to Port Said.

Negroes Still Boycott Buses

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 20 (AP)—Weary Montgomery Negroes are still finding ways to get to and from work without their court-halted car pool and without riding segregated city buses.

For six days since the motor pool was stopped by an injunction, uncounted thousands have found rides with friends, some have used taxicabs, but many have simply walked.

The U.S. Supreme Court has said bus segregation is unconstitutional, but formal notice of the integration decree won't be sent out until about Dec. 12, after the time has expired for city and state authorities to ask for a rehearing.

Until then, when desegregation has become a reality, the Negroes have pledged to continue shunning the buses, a policy they have followed since a boycott started nearly 12 months ago.

Meanwhile, the City Commission in its first official reaction to the Supreme Court ruling instructed city attorneys today to ask the court to reconsider, even though some officials said privately they thought there is slim chance.

Under the federal court rules, the city has 25 days from the date of the Nov. 13 decision to ask for a rehearing.

Such a request might delay the effective date of the new integration policy, but the Supreme Court can put the decision into force without waiting to act on the rehearing petition.

Eight Seabees And 11 Dogs Set Up Shop At South Pole

MCMURDO SOUND, Antartica, Nov. 20 (AP)—Eight U. S. Navy Seabees and 11 sled dogs set up housekeeping at the South Pole today. The temperature was 29 below zero.

The adventurers landed on the bleak, snow-topped polar plateau just after midnight in two ski-equipped C47s. They erected survival tents.

The Seabees are commanded by Lt. Richard A. Bowers, a young Navy engineer from Harrisburg, Pa. They will be joined later by 16 more men who will construct a polar base for American scientists.

The scientists, who are due to leave San Diego, Calif., Dec. 27 aboard the seaplane tender Curtiss, will make observations over a period of six months as part of the U.S. contribution to the world-wide study of the earth and its atmosphere during the International Geophysical Year starting next July.

No one has ever before lived at the pole. The safe arrival of the Seabee party was reported by radio to this U. S. air base 800 miles away on the coast of Antarctica.

Four other planes circled during the C47 landings — ready to drop medical teams in the event of a crash.

One of the four planes, a giant Globemaster, dropped a four-ton weasel, a vehicle equipped with caterpillar tracks to travel over the snow.

The C47s remained grounded about an hour while the dogs, a sled, tents, food and emergency gear were unloaded. Then they took off and headed back to this base.

Some Russian Tank Units Quit Budapest

BUDAPEST, Nov. 20 (AP)—Some Soviet tank units seem to have pulled out of Budapest, whose major industrial areas remain paralyzed by a sitdown strike. And there was no sign of Russian infantry here today.

Withdrawal of the Russians is demanded by a large segment of Hungary's workers. They also want Imre Nagy returned to the premiership from which the Russians deposed him in favor of Janos Kadar, the Hungarian Communist party's ex-boss.

Most of the modern T54 tanks which led the attack on Hungarian resistance forces Nov. 4 apparently are being replaced by Soviet World War II models.

These older tanks had proved easy prey to gasoline bombs in the October revolution which gave Hungary a brief start on the road to free elections and a multiparty government. The T54s now appear concentrated only in the most strategic points.

The rumor that 20 Russian infantry divisions had moved into Hungary remained without confirmation. Competent diplomatic sources in Western legations expressed doubt at the story. A check of a report that one infantry division—meaning perhaps 10,000 men—had been billeted at the suburb of Koebanya disclosed the residents had seen not a single foot soldier.

The demand for independence drew recognition from the government's official newspaper, Nepszabadsag It expressed hope the Soviet Union would "respect the oft-expressed wish of the Hungarian people to live independently and according to its own will."

Some misgivings were expressed about the Polish-Soviet agreement to maintain Russian troops in Poland. The paper said the agreement could "give rise to fear that the Soviet Union might insist on similar conditions in our case."

But Hungary has friendly lands on all frontiers whereas "militaristic West Germany" forms a hazard in Poland's situation, it said, and "this circumstance means the final withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary can be more easily realized."

Most Refugees Assured Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—So many offers to sponsor Hungarian refugees are pouring into the State Department all 5,000 persons to be admitted under the emergency program may already be assured of jobs.

State Department officials who reported this "enormous response" said they are checking private welfare agencies cooperating in the project to determine definitely whether the program already has gone over the top.

The first plane load, carrying 60 Hungarian escapees, is scheduled to land at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey tomorrow (about 11 a.m. EST). Government officials and church welfare representatives who are aiding in the program will welcome them.

Church organizations sponsoring the refugees are the National Catholic Welfare Conference, 29; United HIAS (Hebrew) Service, 24 Church World Service, 4; Lutheran Refugee Service, 3.

In answer to inquiries the State Department said it did not know at this time whether additional sponsors would be needed. The National Advertising Council has offered to sponsor a nationwide advertising campaign to assist the program, if needed, but officials have held off accepting this offer until job guarantees in hand are totaled.

Ferenc Nagy Says Moscow Revolt Loser

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Former Hungarian Prime Minister Ferenc Nagy was quoted today as saying the Soviets have lost ground because of the Hungarian rebellion, even though they suppressed it.

Nagy spent two hours in closed conference with the staff of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Afterward staff member Richard Weil quoted the Hungarian exile as saying that, on balance, the free world won and the Soviets lost from the Hungarian bid for freedom.

Everywhere outside the Soviet orbit, Nagy was quoted as saying Communist parties were weakened and left-wing youths who might once have considered communism liberal and fashionable, now know it as "the darkest reaction ever experienced by mankind."

Weil said Nagy also expressed belief the Soviets probably will have to give more freedom to their satellites because the only alternative is aggression which might set off World War III. He added that Nagy said the Soviet Union not only is incapable of fighting a full-fledged war now, but knows it.

Nagy, who is not to be confused with Imre Nagy, a Hungarian Communist who headed the government at one point during the recent upheavals, was prime minister of Hungary in 1946-47. He fled to this country after the Communist take-over of his homeland and now lives on a farm in Virginia near Washington.

Ike And Congress Leaders To Meet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—President Eisenhower today scheduled meetings with congressional leaders for Dec. 13 - 14 to go over high points of the legislative program he will submit to the 85th Congress.

Republican leaders of the House and Senate will be in Dec. 13 to consider domestic aspects of the program. The next day Democratic leaders will joint them for reviews and briefings on national security phases.

Candidate Lost When He Ran, Won When Didn't

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Nov. 20 (AP)—The case of a candidate who lost when he did run and won when he didn't was reported today.

Herbert Winsor, Marshall attorney, found he'd won the job he didn't seek after thinking he'd lost to someone else who didn't want it either.

He was elected Calhoun County Circuit Court commissioner on only three votes—all write-ins. Winsor was declared winner on a recount over Clyde Cortright, who got two write-ins. There was no candidate on any ticket seeking the office which apparently accounted for the scarcity of votes.

Cortright defeated Winsor for the post in 1948 but didn't seek reelection this year. But he got two write-in votes anyway and was named winner.

Bloody Print Features Trial

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 20 (AP) — Defense attorneys tried to cast doubt on testimony at Martin Wilson's murder trial today which identified a bloody fingerprint as that of Wilson's right thumb.

The fingerprint was on a check found at the home of Mrs. Susan M. Holden, the woman Wilson is accused of stabbing to death on the night of Oct. 17, 1955.

The body of Mrs. Holden, a 52-year-old West Virginia University English instructor, was discovered by a neighbor the next morning in Mrs. Holden's blood-spattered bedroom.

Wilson, 27, a handyman who washed windows at the Holden home, was arrested less than an hour after the body was discovered.

Agent John Robyak of Alexandria, Va., a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 20 years and a fingerprint expert, identified the print on the upper right hand corner of the check as belonging to Wilson.

The check, introduced as evidence, was dated Oct. 5, 1955 and was for $15.68. It was made out to Mrs. Holden from a sorority. At that time she was collecting funds for a charity drive.

A Morgantown patrolman at the time of the murder, Noel Tenney, testified however that he found no legible fingerprints on the check. Tenney was a fingerprint specialist.

Third Largest Non-Atom Blast Shatters Cliff

LAKESIDE, Utah, Nov. 20 (AP)—The nation's third largest nonatomic explosion ripped the base from a 300-foot cliff today, dropping a million tons of rock in a majestic cascade to the shores of the Great Salt Lake.

The material will be used in a causeway which will support mainline tracks of the Southern Pacific Railroad across an arm of the lake.

Five hundred and sixty thousand pounds of explosives were buried 150 feet deep in the face of the cliff, 210 feet from its top.

Scientists had predicted the blast would be recorded on seismographs as far away as Berkeley, Calif., 700 miles distant. But officials at the University of California there said seismographs registered no disturbance at the explosion time.

The causeway will replace a 12-mile stretch of wooden trestle, constructed in 1904 when the Southern Pacific first built its shortcut across the lake.

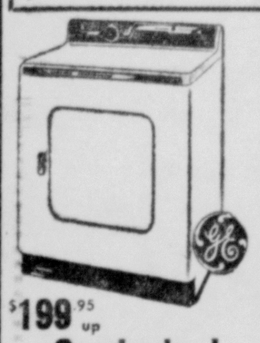

Southern Pacific officials said records indicate the blast here has been exceeded in size only twice, in nonatomic explosions. Both were in construction of the South Holston Dam at Bristol, Tenn., a unit of the Tennessee Valley Authority project.

M'Keldin Gets Gold Phone On Birthday

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin received a gold-plated telephone on his 56th birthday today, joined in singing "happy birthday" to himself at an office party and ate ice cream and cake with office workers.

The governor arrived for the birthday festivities after spending most of the day in the Baltimore office going over the State budget to be presented to the Legislature in January.

Waiting for him were officials of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. with a gold-plated telephone for his desk—the one millionth phone to be installed in Maryland. The first was installed in Baltimore in 1878.

It was presented to the governor by James B. Morrison of Washington, president of the C. & P. telephone companies and W. Griffin Morrel, vice president of the C. & P. of Maryland.

"Is this for me or for the State?" McKeldin asked as he admired the shiny new instrument.

"For you, governor," replied Morrel. "You can take it wherever you wish."

"Wonderful!" beamed McKeldin. "I'll take it with me when I leave here in two years."

Worker Receives 13,000-Volt Jolt

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP) — A 300-pound city worker took a 13,000 volt charge of electricity today and came out with a stinging hand and slightly singed hair.

Orange Oscar Holmes, 40, was operating a pneumatic power hammer which came in contact with an underground electric line. He stumbled back from the charge.

He was rushed by ambulance to Johns Hopkins Hospital where he relaxed in a chair and said, "my left hand stings a little bit but I feel OK." Singed hair around his temples was the only visible signs of the shock.

Sparks enveloped Holmes, his hammer and the hole he was digging when the metal bit of the hammer came in contact with the wire. The yellow hammer was blackened and earth surrounding the hole scorched by the charge.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)The federal government collected $1,859,160,000 in taxes in Maryland and the District of Columbia in the fiscal year ended last June 30.

Allegany Holds First Parents Afternoon

Nearly 300 parents visited Allegany High School between 1 p. m. and 3:30 p. m. Monday during "Parents' Afternoon," a new experiment in parent-teacher conferences on the high school level, Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal, said today.

The idea was accepted wholeheartedly, Dr. Haines said, and it seems advisable to plan for another similar event later in the year, he added.

Early in November, letters of invitation announcing parents afternoon were mailed to the homes of parents of students.

As responses were received, personal conferences to be held in the privacy of the teachers' rooms were arranged with each of three teachers with whom appointments were requested. Appointment times were sent to parents.

The purpose of the ten-minute meetings was to enable parents to discuss with teachers the progress or achievement of their boy or girl. Parents' afternoon had no program of an entertainment nature in the auditorium, Dr. Haines pointed out.

Brief questionnaires designed to evaluate parents afternoon were presented to the parents. Some did not fill out the forms, but over 200 of the 300 adults attending did, Dr. Haines stated.

There was unanimous approval to the question "Do you favor having a parents' afternoon?"

In answers to other questions, some parents expressed a desire for panel discussions and informal talks as methods by which the program of the school could be presented and interpreted, the principal explained.

As for the question, "Do you think that a Parent-Teacher Association at Allegany High School would be valuable?" less than 50 per cent of the questionnaires had the "yes" answer checked. About 20 per cent of the parents expressed their non-interest by not answering. But 30 per cent were definitely against a PTA, he added.

"Contrary to what is often thought, most parents of high school students seem to be genuinely concerned about the progress and achievement of their boy or girl and were anxious for this contact with teachers."

Miss Phyllis Marlene Nickel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Nickel, 41 New Hampshire Avenue, became the bride of Dr. LeRoy W. Hare Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy W. Hare, 215 Grand Avenue, November 17.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7 p. m. in Trinity Methodist Church, with Rev. Louis P. Chastain officiating. Bouquets of white pompons and chrysanthemums were used in the decorations.

Members of the bridal party were Miss Barbara Baker, maid of honor; Miss Betty Gray, bridesmaid; Margaret Dill, cousin of the bride, junior bridesmaid; Kay Dill and Donna Hare, sister of the bridegroom, flower girls. Charles Welch served as Dr. Hare's best man, while Thomas Rowan and James Farris were the ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina-length gown of white lace over nylon net and white taffeta. Fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirt, it has a high neckline with Peter Pan collar, and long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was held by a headpiece of pearls. Completing her costume, she carried a white lace-covered prayer book, topped with an orchid, surrounded with white pompons and white satin streamers.

Her attendants all wore ballerina-length dresses. Miss Baker's was yellow nylon net over yellow taffeta, with white lace daisies trimming the bodice. With it she wore a halo of yellow flowers and carried a bouquet of fall shade pompons. Miss Gray's dress was orchid nylon net over orchid taffeta and also had white lace daisies trimming the bodice. Her halo was of white flowers and her bouquet of white pompons and red roses. Margaret's dress was of pink nylon net over pink taffeta, with lace ruffles trimming the skirt. She had pink roses in her hair and carried a bouquet of white pompons with blue felt leaves. Kay's frock was pink nylon net over pink taffeta and she had pink roses in her hair. Her bouquet was white pompons with green ribbons, while Donna wore blue nylon net over blue taffeta and had blue flowers in her hair. Her bouquet of white pompons was tied with pink ribbons.

Mrs. Nickel chose a beige lace dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Hare selected an orchid lace with black accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1956, where she was a member of the National Thespian Society, the Fort Hill Players and was on the Student Council.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1953, and of Logan Chiropractic College, St. Louis, Mo., 1956. He was athletic director while in college.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickel entertained in honor of their daughter and her bridal party with a wedding reception at LaVale Fire Hall, following the ceremony. The bridal table was decorated in white pompons and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip, the bride was attired in a light blue wool Jersey dress, made on princess lines with an Italian neckline. With it she wore navy blue accessories and her orchid corsage.

Dr. and Mrs. Hare are residing at 303 Virginia Avenue.

Parking Area Plan Outlined At Piedmont

Town Sponsoring Second City Lot

PIEDMONT—The second parking lot of the town of Piedmont is expected to be put in operation by early next spring. The area will run from Second to Third Streets on part of the ground purchased from the Western Maryland Railway Company, formerly the property of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Mayor Rodney Baker announced at the regular council meeting this week that B. C. Curry of the Duncan Meter Company had advised him that his company would pay the cost of conditioning the street for parking meters and installing them. The town could repay the company by giving the firm all the receipts from the parking meters on the lot until the cost of improving the ground and cost of the meters were paid.

Ormond Ledlow, town clerk, was instructed to contact Curry to ask him to come here for a conference.

The clerk was ordered to advise Vernon Golder that the lease he has with the town expires March 1 and would be terminated on that date. The town will use that space as a part of the parking lot.

Golder was granted a building permit to construct a one story concrete block building, 57 by 24 to be used as a display for tombstones and carving on Third Street.

William Cathers, local manager of the Potomac Edison Company, and Warned Lowry, Keyser, district manager of the company, conferred with council about the town's lighting problem.

It was ordered that a light be placed on the pole opposite Walden Methodist Church to improve the lighting situation at that point.

Church Holds Services Of Dedication

FROSTBURG — Special services were held at 8:30 and 11 a. m. Sunday to mark the completion of the renovation program in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, West Main Street.

The interior of the sanctuary has been completely redecorated by a group of artists, and the floor has been recovered with new green carpet. The walnut baptismal font has been moved to the left of the altar and mounted on a new hexagonal platform, which has also been covered with matching carpet. All pulpit furniture has been upholstered in matching color, and all of the pews and interior woodwork have been varnished.

Rev. Edward A. Godsey, pastor, spoke on "Symbols of Our Faith," taking his theme from the twelve symbolic paintings which the artist placed between the double stained glass memorial windows of the sanctuary.

Two hundred and fifty new metal chairs have been secured for use in the lecture room, where services have been held while the sanctuary was being renovated, and it was decided at a meeting of the official board last week to proceed with the renovation of this part of the church at once. A new title floor will be laid in this department.

United Charity Fund Drive Meeting Is Set Next Week

The board of directors of the Cumberland Community Chest has called a meeting for Wednesday, November 28 at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club at which time a discussion will be held on organizing the program on a United Fund basis.

Charles L. Kopp, president of the Chest, said many of the leaders of the annual Chest fund raising campaigns, as well as contributors, have suggested a United Fund program. The suggestions for such an organization seem to be so strong that it appears the time is here when serious consideration should be given to this newly developed plan for community giving, Kopp stated.

Attending the meeting will be community leaders and a cross section of the public. A free discussion will be held to ascertain definitely whether or not the group deems it advisable to proceed with a complete study of the local situation to determine the advisability of a united campaign here, Kopp declared.

Kopp said that a committee will represent the community of Cumberland and not necessarily the agencies which are beneficiaries of the fund.

The United Fund, if adopted would result in one big campaign each year instead of a number of fund-raising programs for various charitable purposes.

District Head Plans Visit

Rev. Dr. Harry Marsh, superintendent of the Hagerstown District of the Methodist Church, will be the speaker at a Thanksgiving service Sunday at 11 a. m. at Melvin Methodist Church.

The service, according to Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor, will also feature a report on a fund campaign to reduce the building debt.

The campaign, Rev. Mr. Hartman explained, has been conducted on the theme, "Endless String of Bills," representing the amount of wall space inside the church. Each week since the drive started, a portion of a red line has been painted along the 160-foot sanctuary wall.

The line, he continued, has gone around the wall two times to exceed the goal of $1,000. A representative of a local bank will receive a check representing the total offering collected during the drive at Sunday morning's service, Rev. Mr. Hartman said.

A Thanksgiving service will also be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at Melvin Church, with the Mapleside and Fairview churches, affiliated with the circuit, participating. The preacher will be Rev. Dr. Crates S. Johnson.

County Board Gets Apology

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a letter of apology yesterday from James W. Stein, president of Local 26, United Rubber Workers, concerning the purchase of a car.

Inquiry had been made by Stein after it had been reported a car for county use was purchased out of the county. Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said he checked into the matter and found that no car had been bought by the county outside the county.

It was later learned that the Allegany County Board of Education bought a dual control car for use at Bruce High School in Westernport from Ludwig's Garage in Keyser. The car was purchased with only a small token payment and was obtained from the Keyser firm because it had one available. The token payment was reported to have been $1.

Board Plans Road Study In Westernport

On a motion by Commissioner James Orr, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday instructed its attorney, Gorman E. Getty, to advise the board what it can or cannot do legally in connection with a request for a roadway in a housing development in Westernport for the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Orr said that since John A. Luke, manager of the Luke mill of the firm and several members of his staff had contacted the county board, the request has been checked by J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

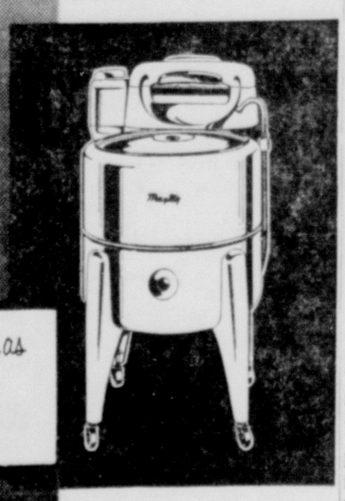

The Westvaco firm has purchased a tract of approximately 235 acres adjacent to the new Bruce High School where a housing development is to be started. About 80 residences are contemplated at present, Mr. Luke said.

Mr. Luke explained to the board that there is a dearth of available housing in the Tri-Towns area both in quantity and quality and it is hard for the company to get technical men and other qualified personnel to take positions in the Luke mill. The company will begin a $50 million expansion program next June, he added.

What To Do About Red China And U.N.?

The United States should get together with its Western allies on China policy says Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Minister for External Affairs. Pearson wants to prevent in Asia another "collapse of cooperation" such as has occurred in the Middle East. Obviously, too, he is mindful of the differences among the Western allies on admitting Red China to the United Nations.

The statement by Pearson to the Tenth American Assembly came as the U.N. General Assembly was preparing to vote on the U. S. proposal that a decision on membership for Red China be postponed for yet another year. The General Assembly's Steering Committee on November 14 had voted, 8 to 5, to put the question off again. But the lineup, with Denmark and Egypt joining Soviet Russia, India, and Czechoslovakia in opposing the U. S. move, indicates a possible shrinkage of support for the U. S.

Can the Red Chinese be kept out of the U.N. beyond next year? A vote to admit would require a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly. The question of whether the issue would be subject to a Security Council veto by the United States or Nationalist China might have to be decided by the International Court of Justice.

The U. S. Congress in 1951 resolved that "the Communist Chinese should not be admitted to membership in the U.N." and has been making it clear ever since that the resolution still holds. The vote opposing admission of Red China at the 1956 session of Congress was 391 to 0 in the House; 86 to 0 in the Senate.

Both Republican and Democratic platforms in 1956 opposed Red Chinese admission. Secretary of State Dulles on July 8, 1954, made it plain that the United States would use the veto if necessary to keep the Peiping regime out of the Security Council, the only U.N. organ in which a veto is possible.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

An Alliance Is An Alliance

NATO is an alliance among nations, the principals of which are Great Britain, France and the United States. That alliance is now very sick and may die because of the Middle East fiasco. The blame is not easily fixed, although the tendency in Europe will be to blame the United States and in India to praise Eisenhower for it.

The official American view is that Great Britain and France never notified the United States that they intended to start a police or any other action against the Soviet puppet, Nasser. If it is true that the United States never knew anything about the action of Israel or the action of Great Britain or France, or the Soviet half-billion dollar build-up of arms in Arabian countries, then there is something very wrong with American intelligence and both the State Department and the CIA need to explain how it happens that they can neither see nor hear what is going on in areas which they are supposed to be watching punctiliously.

On the other hand, both Great Britain and France recognize that they have been let down by the United States. To them NATO is a one-way street which exists only to serve American interests and further, that the United States does not always know what American interests are but sometimes follows a blind, doctrinaire pacifism which causes it to be so afraid of war that its timidity could bring on a war.

At any rate, American support of Nasser against Great Britain, France and Israel has been as astonishing as it would have been if the Roosevelt Administration had supported Hitler against Western Europe. At any rate, it is not to be expected that the British or French people will ever understand why the United States should favor a Soviet puppet against its closest allies—and nobody does understand it, including most Americans who feel that they have not been kept informed by their government.

The word, support, may sound strong, but it is difficult to find a softer yet equally accurate word. For what American action has actually achieved is that Nasser's position has become consolidated while NATO has been weakened practically beyond redemption; the United Nations was given an opportunity to display a moral cowardice vis-a-vis Soviet Russia which will not be forgotten by that country, particularly after it had engaged in a blood-bath in Hungary without censure, correction or reprisal. The United Nations has been petulant about Egypt and craven about Hungary. It is impossible to respect a craven body.

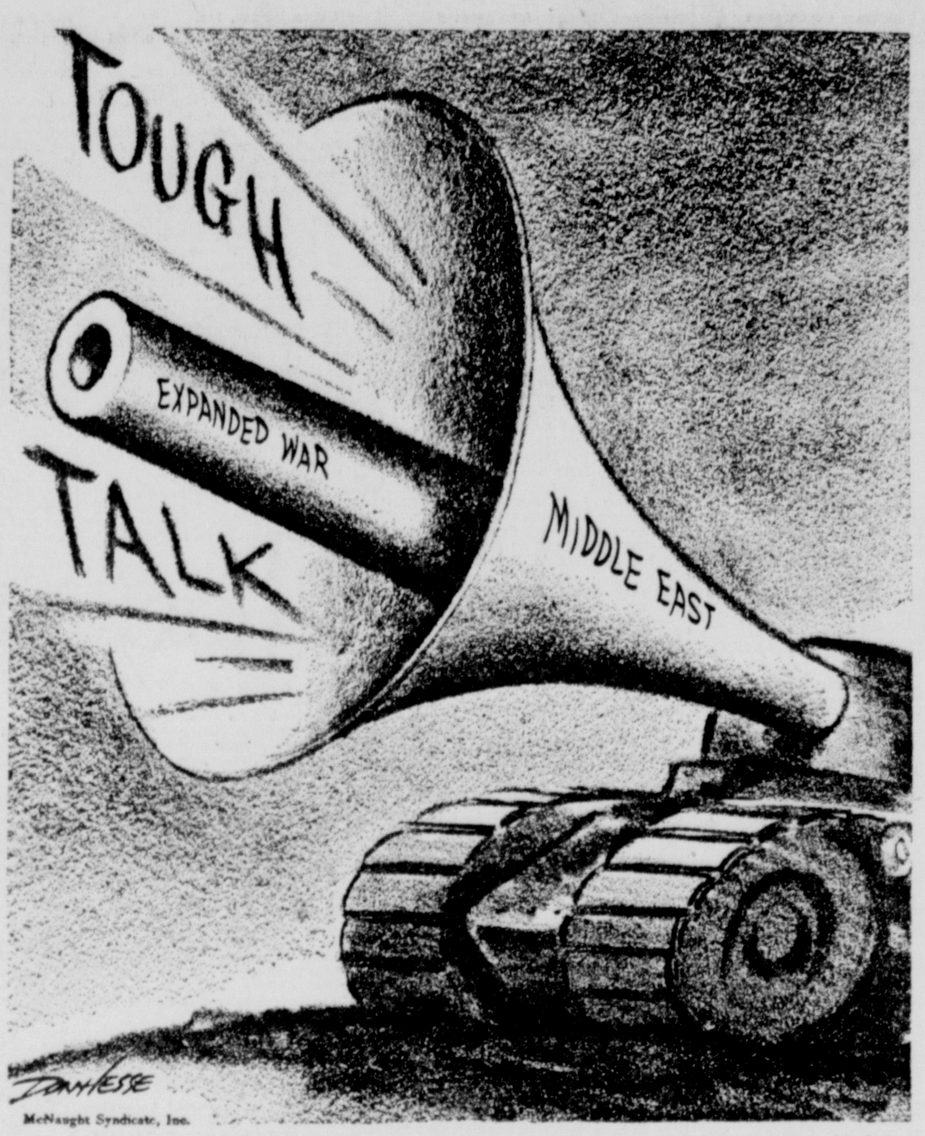

The countries in the United Nations which abstained from voting for or against the United Nations resolution ordering Soviet Russia out of Hungary are: Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt, Finland, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Jordan, Libya, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. These names need to be remembered. Had they voted in favor of Soviet Russia, it might have been assumed that they were forced to take a stand because of some treaty or partnership with the Russians. But they abstained. They were afraid to vote for or against. They were afraid to be identified on a moral issue. They were craven, cowardly and in fear. Is the peace of the world to depend upon such countries?

What it amounts to is that the United Nations is not maintaining the peace of the world. It has become a center of intrigue, a dangerous Tower of Babel which runs interference but achieves no positive results. It will be said that the United Nations Organization delayed war in the Middle East; it will not be said by anybody that the United Nations Organization delayed or impeded murder in Hungary. And several years from now when the world still has to deal with the barbarous dictator of the Arab world, the man who believes in militarism as a faith and says so, what will the United Nations be able to say in its defense then? It will be too late, as it was too late about Hitler in 1939 and too late about Stalin in 1945.

Why is it that the West is always too late? Why is it that the West did not know that Soviet Russia was establishing a military base in the Sinai Peninsula? What do our representatives do in the countries to which they are accredited? Do they do anything?

America Must Face Up To Role As World Leader

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

What is the nature of America's responsibility as the history-appointed leader of the Western Alliance?

This question has been posed, in an acute form, by the great and dark events which are now unfolding. It is being much debated in Washington at the moment, rather uncomfortably in the higher circles of the administration, and very bitterly indeed among the representatives of our allies who have to deal with the administration.

No doubt it is presumptuous for these reporters to try to define America's world responsibility. Yet it seems desirable to make a stab at it, if only because sharply critical analyses of the administration's Middle Eastern policy have recently appeared in this space. Criticism is meaningless unless the standards of the criticism are clearly set out: and this, therefore, is an attempt to do just that.

Chain Of Command?

The right way to gauge the American world responsibility — or so it seems to us — is to remember the nature of a company commander's responsibility. In sum, the captain of an infantry company in the line is responsible for the welfare and performance of his whole outfit.

He must know the peculiarities of all his men — whether this Pfc. has sore feet and that tech sergeant tends towards delusions of grandeur. He must allow for the sore feet and the delusions of grandeur when he is making his duty assignments and laying out his plans. If his company fails in battle, he cannot offer the excuse that one of his platoon lieutenants was a screwball. He gets the chief credit for success and the chief blame for failure.

Such is the inescapable burden, alas, of every leader in every great struggle, and such it has always been.

In the Western Alliance of free nations, however, there is no clear-cut chain of command, such as there is in an infantry company. This greatly complicates America's burden of world leadership, for success can only be won by persuasion and foresight and extra-special consideration of the special problems of the less powerful allies.

The fact that there is no chain of command in no sense means, however, that American policy-makers are justified in smugly blaming disasters that overtake the Western Alliance on the folly of our less powerful allies. They may be foolish, but it is still like the company captain saying that his outfit was routed because the platoon lieutenant was a screwball. It amounts to a flat rejection of the leadership burden that history has placed upon this country, with the remorseless command: 'Carry that burden well, you Americans, or go down with it to ruin."

It is wrong in another sense, also for the task of policy-makers in all countries is to foresee the reactions and guard against the follies of policy-makers in other countries whose decisions may affect the national interest. And by this test, too, American dealings with the Middle Eastern crisis have been sadly at fault.

For what has happened? A great crisis was precipitated when Egypt's President Nasser brusquely nationalized the Suez Canal, as his answer to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' brusque rejection of the Aswan Dam scheme.

Nasser got away with it and so became the unchallenged leader of the other Middle Eastern nations. This meant a menace of eventual extinction for little Israel.

For Britain and France, the consequences of a Nasser triumph were almost equally mortal, in view of their economic dependence on Middle Eastern resources. Through the two other leading Western allies, as well as because of our connection with Israel, our own vital interests were also at stake, although less directly.

In these circumstances, however, our policy seemed to be mainly designed to get by somehow, from conference to fruitless conference, without doing anything uncomfortably controversial or decisive to solve the problem.

Policy Of Desperation

But this was not a leader's policy, it was not even a practical policy, since leaving the problem unsolved quite foreseeably insured an eventual resort to desperate measures by the Israelis, if not by the British and French as well.

Precisely this result finally ensued.

Besides joining the Israelis in doing something desperate, moreover, the British and French did it in a very foolish way. Yet once again, the first task of the leader was not to reprove or recriminate or punish. As with a company captain when his platoon lieutenants make a serious mistake in battle, the leader's first task was to make the best of a bad business. And much better could certainly have been made of this bad business than all but surrendering the whole Middle East to the influence and power of the Soviets.

Blaming allies is both human and consoling. But when things go badly, the true world leader must first of all examine his own conduct, to see whether his leadership responsibility has been duly, wisely and courageously discharged, and to see how he can do better. Surely this is not expecting too much greatness of America.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Republicans have had four Thanksgivings in the upper register. The turkey isn't as important as the stuffings.

Democrats did all right with the House and Senate and can block things like your wife's hairpins in the wash basin.

So everybody's sitting as pretty as an egg in the nest. Republicans are eating high on the hog and the Democrats low on the turkey.

We figure that's a fairly nutritious arrangement for manipulation of the refunds. Man's first great invention was the wheel. The second and even more important was the brake.

This constitutional trellis of emoluments and appurtenances was calibrated for the good of many. The question is how many?

The Democratic majority promises to co-operate on a bi-partisan schedule with reservations. Meaning it will play ball with Ike and do the umpiring.

You've got to have opposition to get anywhere. It's the difference between pulling in a tarpon or opening a can of sardines.

Ike knows he has to ask for two to get one. Well, a toot on the horn of plenty is better than an obbligato on a moose call.

Heart Operations Prove Value Of Experience

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Boston surgeon, Dr. Dwight E. Harken, has performed more than 1,000 operations on the mitral valve of the heart. These patients were classified in four groups, depending upon the severity of the disease. Groups I and II were more benign than group III, and those in group IV were totally incapacitated and in a terminal state. His results show there is no substitute for experience.

In the first 100 operations the mortality in group III was approximately 14 per cent, and in group IV it was over 30 per cent. But after the surgeon had done 600 operations the rate in group III dropped to 2.7 and in group IV to 20 per cent.

More experience brought more improvement and the mortality in group II is now less than 0.5 per cent; in the more serious cases it is 16 per cent. These statistics are significant for another reason. Candidates of this type of heart surgery (valvuloplasty) should not wait until they are on their last legs before requesting surgery, as the chances of survival in terminal patients are decreased forty fold.

Mitral stenosis is one of the most serious forms of leakage of the heart. The mitral valve separates the left ventricle from the left auricle and this structure is involved frequently in rheumatic fever. When damaged, its leaflets become inflamed. After healing occurs, residual scars narrow the opening to the size of a lead pencil. In this state, the valve does not open or close properly.

The first attempts to reduce this obstruction were made in 1948, and seven of the first 10 patients are still alive. In this procedure, an opening is made into the wall of the heart, just large enough to admit the index finger. In some instances, the surgeon pries open the narrowed valve with his finger or cuts it with a special knife attached to his finger tip.

No one was able to predict how long the valve would remain open but the good results have continued for at least seven years, long enough to justify the operation.

Forty per cent of the patients who have undergone the operation consider themselves in an excellent state of health; 32 per cent are living a relatively normal life, so long as they stay within self-imposed limitations.

Ten per cent were not helped by the operation but many of these were in the terminal group. They are alive, and for this they are grateful.

MASTICATION

Mrs. B. writes: Must food be chewed well?

REPLY

This is what we have been taught since childhood but recent experiments in Great Britain showed that digestion goes on even with little chewing. Exceptions occurred with foods that left large undigested residues, including meat and vegetables. Softer foods such as bread and cheese were digested whether or not they were chewed. This is a far cry from Fletcherism, a dietary system of a few generations ago that advocated chewing and chewing and chewing.

WHACK UP THE CALORIES

K. L. writes: My sister is trying to reduce by eating only one meal a day. Is this a sensible program?

REPLY

It would be more sensible to eat three smaller meals, dividing the 800 to 1,200 calories allowed. In this way the would-be reducer will not feel weak and faint most of the day.

INHERITED GENES

W. T. writes: What is a genetic disease?

REPLY

A hereditary disease. Traits are passed from one generation to another through the genes (genetically).

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Alan Wilson tells about a couple of avid TV fans who began to grumble at the old, old, movies that kept making the channel rounds. "I saw one last night so old, said the first, "that Abraham Lincoln played himself in it."

"That was a comparatively new one," scoffed the other. "We caught one last week that was really a museum piece: Abraham Lincoln played Raymond Massey!"

Jack Bernstein, of St. Louis, visited a neighbor who was making butter, so he pitched in and helped. The next day the neighbor came to Bernstein and said, "Now I want to help you. I believe that one good churn deserves another. (Butter Bernstein is hereby called out on strikes.)

President Believes Time Has Come For Long-Range Peace Discussions

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Regardless of the concealed gimmicks and propaganda twists in the Bulganin disarmament note, it comes at a time when two significant situations are at hand. They are:

Situation No. 1—Foreign Minister Shepilov has hinted at the idea of a Russian-American agreement to keep the peace of the world.

Situation No. 2 — President Eisenhower has set himself the goal of fulfilling the pledges he made during the election campaign—the achievement of peace. He believes he can negotiate an agreement with the Russians which would bring the world at least ten years of peace. He could then go down in history as a peace President.

Some advisers, especially those in the Pentagon, are vigorously opposed to these views, believe their commander-in-chief may be too trusting of the Russians. The State Department, among others, is skeptical. U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was so suspicious when Shepilov suggested, at the end of an informal chat, that the United States and Russia between them could keep the peace, he was inclined to brush it aside.

The chat took place in New York. Shepilov suggested that Britain and France were no longer first-class powers. He congratulated the United States for condemning their attack of Egypt and suggested that Russia and the U. S. A. work together in the future.

Ike's Peace Reasoning

The reasoning of the President, according to close friends, goes something like this:

The Kremlin knows that World War III would destroy Russia as well as the United States. This, incidentally, was Eisenhower's interpretation of the Russian state-of-mind even before Bulganin put it in exactly those words in last week's disarmament proposal.

The Kremlin also knows that in time of war it could not possibly control the satellite peoples. Control over them depends on transportation and communication; and in time of war transportation and communication would be cut off. The satellites would revolt. The great unassimilated population masses of the U. S. S. R. would be in turmoil.

Therefore, Eisenhower reasons, the Kremlin needs peace and knows that it needs peace.

Accordingly, a marriage of convenience might be worked out whereby Russia agreed to keep out of the Near East and the U. S. A. agreed to keep hands off the satellite countries. Russia would police all of Eastern Europe. The United States, in turn, would be left to work out the future of the Near East and Africa.

This cuts squarely across election promises made by both Eisenhower and Dulles to free the satellite nations, but it's reasoned that world peace would be worth this sacrifice.

Stalin And FDR

The broad outline of the President's thinking goes back to the same principle President Roosevelt was working on with Stalin and Churchill, and which Eisenhower, then commander in Europe, was cognizant of. It was in conformity with this over-all plan that he pulled U. S. troops out of Czechoslovakia after General Patton occupied that country; also pulled U. S. troops out of Potsdam and down to south of the River Elbe.

Churchill, Stalin, and Roosevelt had gone so far as to discuss a division of the Balkans whereby Yugoslavia and Greece were to remain under British influence, with Bulgaria and Romania under Russian influence. To this end, Stalin even gave Churchill advice that the man to work with in Yugoslavia was a Croat leader named Tito, then an upstart underground leader in the Balkans.

This whole scheme of Russian-American cooperation fell apart after Roosevelt's death in April 1945. It is not President Eisenhower's plan to put the exact jigsaw puzzle back together as Stalin, Roosevelt, and Churchill planned it. But in the back of his mind is the general idea that the Kremlin has every reason to bargain for control of the satellites in return for an American free hand in the Near East, also that the leaders of the Kremlin more than ever need a period of stabilizing peace.

NOTE—Pentagon leaders emphasize that the United States today has the upper hand in A-bomb and H-bomb development, probably would not have it after ten years. They distrust the Bulganin proposal to ban all H and A bombs, destroy atomic stockpiles, and permit international inspection to prevent resumption of an atomic arms race.

Merry-Go-Round

Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt has been invited to London to talk before members of the British Parliament on oil. His speech last winter on the Anglo-American oil monopoly in the Near East attracted more attention in Europe than in the U. S. A. . . . Ex-Mayor Bill O'Dwyer of New York, now a resident of Mexico City, is coming to New York for the Saints and Sinners Luncheon this week. There was a time when critics claimed O'Dwyer didn't dare return to the U. S. A., but he came back last year to start the Dodgers' winning streak toward their first World Series title in history . . . The truth is O'Dwyer just likes Mexico. Treasury agents have probed everything they can, even dug up around his brother's California ranch to find hidden dough, no luck. All they could find was an entertainment deduction for money spent out of his own pocket when O'Dwyer was ambassador to Mexico. The Treasury is trying to prove this was not a business expense . . . Little noticed but effective has been the job Ex-Ambassador Jose Mora of Uruguay has been doing as head of the Pan-American Union . . . The D. C. Bar Association, though supposed to uphold the Constitution, doesn't believe in free speech. After inviting Robert Valeur, counselor of the French Embassy, to address them, the Washington legal fraternity disclaimed him publicly for expressing the French point of view on John Foster Dulles' bungling of the Suez crisis.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

It was Marie de Medici who started the Paris park and avenue which is now the Champs Elysees. That was in the early part of the 17th Century. It was also Marie de Medici and her staff of Florentines who taught the French how to cook and instructed them in table manners. The latter included the use of the fork. Before that the French ate with their fingers.

RINGS

Most French husbands wear wedding rings. However, this does not seem to decrease their enthusiasm for flirtatious intervals with females other than their wives. . . . A Frenchman likes to start the day off with a stimulating alcoholic drink. One of the busiest periods in the Paris bars is that between five a. m. and 10 a. m.

PLEASE NOTE

Bernard Shaw's play "Le Profession de Madame Warren" (Mrs. Warren's Profession") is a long run hit in Paris. However, the profession of Mrs. Warren is no longer practiced in Paris in the manner she practiced it. Such establishments have been definitely closed by the police. The females with love for sale now parade the boulevards. On the Champs Elysees it is very difficult to distinguish these women from other feminine strollers. Many of the young women offering companionship for a price are elegantly attired even to the point of featuring mink coats. Some lead stylishly clipped poodles on a leash. Their approach to a prospective patron is extremely discreet and if they are rebuffed they take it graciously, saying, "Au revoir, Monsieur."

NIGHT CLUBS

There are a few night clubs in Brussels featuring undressed females but this type of entertainment is not particularly popular here. The Belgians believe a woman wearing clothes is much more attractive and can have as much sex attraction as one without clothes. In that I agree. When unattired a woman reveals some physical features which might better be concealed. As for example her knees which are the ugliest part of the average female's figure.

BRIEFLY

Many shops here in Europe are operated by man and wife. The wife is usually very active. She gets billing in the firm name. As for example: "M. and Mme. Blauve-Pharmacie" . . . Coffee is the national drink of Belgium. Eighty per cent of people seen at a sidewalk cafe will be drinking coffee. . . . Brussels was enemy-occupied for eight years during world Wars I and II. In World War I the Germans occupied the city from 1914-1918. In World War II from May 1940, to September 3, 1944.

ASIDES

Brussels is gay in the afternoon as well as at night. There are innumerable "dansants." Many playful wives are said to be among the patrons of these places. . . . Ostend is 77 miles from Brussels. It is, as you know, primarily a summer seaside resort but the gambling casino is open there all year round.

CALM PEOPLE

There is very little heart trouble in Holland. This has been attributed to the fact that most Hollanders ride many miles daily on bicycles. Maybe something to that. However, I believe the reason the Hollanders rarely suffer from heart trouble is because of their calm demeanor. And their fondness for taking it easy in their homes after a hard day's work.

TUNNEL

The tunnel under the Meuse River at Rotterdam is similar to the Lincoln Tunnel under the North River, Manhattan, in some respects. However, this remarkable piece of Dutch engineering has four sections; two for vehicles, one for cyclists and one for pedestrians. It is free. It is 6,136 feet in length.

Keyser Gridders Leave Today For State Title Game

Play Mullens On Thursday At Beckley

Opponent Owns 7-3 Record; Clarkmen Have Won Last 15

Keyser High School's football squad, headed by coaches Frederick "Tack" Clark and Joe Stanislaweczyk, leave this morning at 7:30 o'clock by Greyhound bus for Beckley, 253 miles distant, where the Golden Tornado will battle Mullens High School on Thanksgiving Day at 2 p. m., for the West Virginia Class A scholastic championship.

The Keyser party, including 30 players, expects to arrive in Beckley at 4 p. m. today. The team will remain overnight at the Hotel Beckley. Accompanying the team will be Parker C. Black, principal, managers, cheerleaders and school sports reporter.

Mullens' Record 7-3

Mullens, coached by Ray Caldwell, goes into the championship contest with a 7-3 record while Keyser owns a 10-0 record for the current season and boasts a 15-game winning streak that started in mid-season 1955.

Keyser defeated the following teams during the regular season: Charles Town 19-14, Parsons 7-0, Beall 20-0, Ridgeley 20-0, Allegany 6-0, LaSalle 19-12, Moorefield 14-0, Southern 18-0, Petersburg 18-13, Romney 19-7.

Coach Clark plans to go with the same starting lineup that he has used throughout the season. Bill Clevenger will start at quarterback with John Burgess and Bill Spotts as the halfbacks and Nelson Dennis at fullback. Charles Tribett and Eddie Parish will start at the ends, Norman Groves and Beal or Melvin Davis, tackles; Bill Hollingsworth and Ronald Fraley, guards, and James Turbin, center.

Mullens' starting lineup will be as follows:

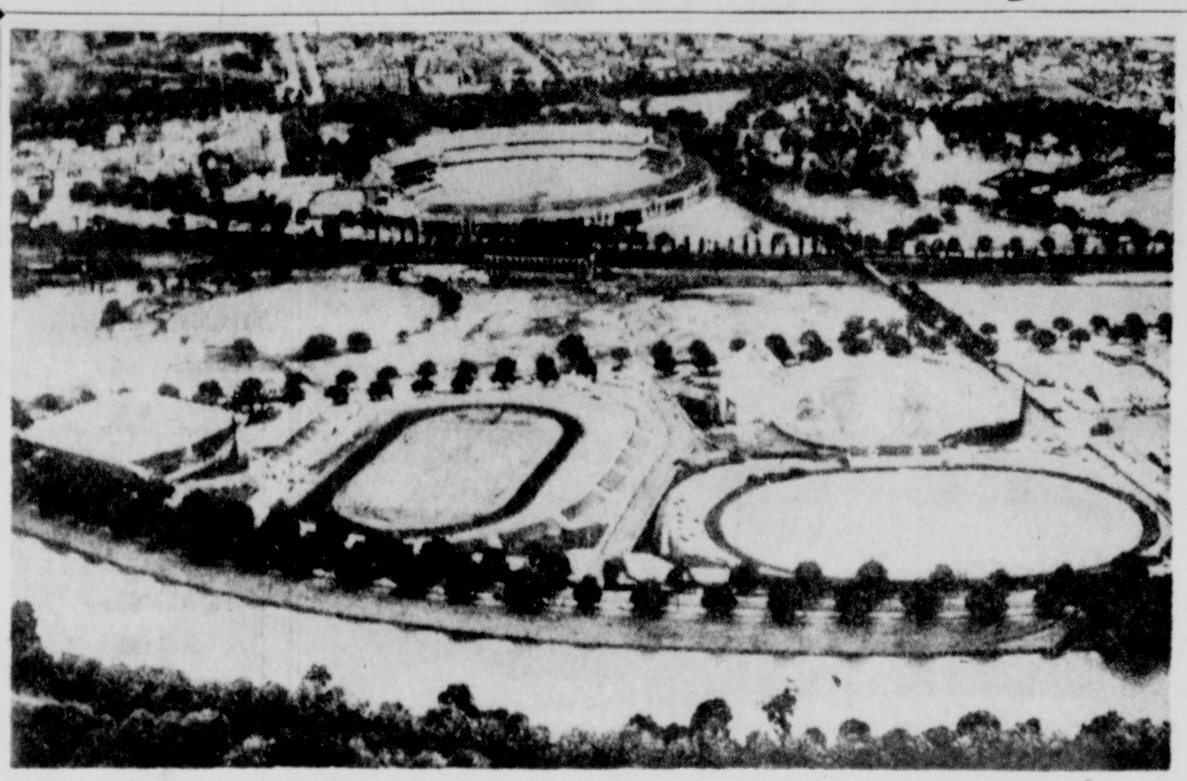

Ronnie Cook and Jim Wilcox, ends; "Rickey" Tolley and Joe Akers or Jerry Raines, tackles; "Buddy" Cumby and Jeff Houck, guards; Joe Lyttle, center; "Butch" Hensley or Malcolm Cook, quarterbacks; Bob Short and Frank Tolliver, halfbacks; John McNamara, fullback.

Lost Three To AA Schools

The three defeats suffered by Mullens High School came at the hands of Class AA schools, namely Beckley, 13-0, Bluefield 35-18 and Welch 20-10.

Mullens defeated six Class A schools, Hinton 19-0, Pineville 33-6, Sophia 31-0, Mount Hope 12-6, Oceana 33-0 and Stoco of Coal City 20-7. Princeton, a Class AA school was nosed out, 6-0.

Grafton High School is West Virginia's double-A champion for 1956.

By C. V. BURNS

THE Keyser-Mullens state Class A championship football game at Beckley, W. Va., Thanksgiving Day is a reminder that on March 18, 1955 it was Mullens High School that trounced Keyser, 80-59 at Huntington in the semi-final round of the state title basketball tourney.

In the matter of field goals Keyser was outscored only 22-19 but the Wyoming countians made the victory decisive by meshing 36 of 47 free throws while Keyser was hooping 21 of 34 shots.

Several Keyserites who played in that game are on the team that will try to square accounts with Mullens on Thursday.

MANY of those who attended the P. V. C. meeting Monday night were stunned and asked "wot hoppened?" after the two all-conference teams were announced and the name of Charles Buemi, backfield star of the West Virginia School for the Deaf, did not appear on either list.

You could have knocked over Coach Donald Bullock of the Deaf School with a feather when Buemi was not even listed among the eight backs.

Buemi made the second all-conference team a year ago and it does seem strange that eight players were put in front of him after his greatest season with one of tthe best teams ever turned out of the Romney school.

AS the 1956 golf season nears a close at the Cumberland Country Club it looks as though James W. Beacham, the real estate tycoon, will be the only player to get credit for a hole-in-one this year.

Jim happens to be among the five CCC members who have two aces to their credit. He got his on the 10th and 15th holes.

Others are Carroll Boggs, the CCC pro, 1-10, George Garlitz 10-10, Judge Morgan C. Harris 10-10 and Charles Zembower 12-12.

The club's only father and son hole-in-one combination is Charles S. Catherman, senior and junior. "Bill" got his on the 13th and his dad canned one on the 15th.

Richard Buskey, assistant pro, says that out of 43 aces recorded at the Christie Road layout three were made by women members. Mrs. G. William Bibby and Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie chalked up theirs on the 10th while Mrs. Dorothy Killackey scored one on the 12th.

There were no holes-in-one recorded at the club in 1955. The banner year was 1953 when five aces were scored.

CHICK SIMLER, 62, who fought more than 200 bouts as a lightweight and welterweight between 1912 and 1920, died at Jessup, Pa., the other day according to a dispatch out of Scranton.

"Vic" Ricker, the Fort Cumberland Hotel tonsorial artist, who promoted numerous pro shows here and brought many good boxers from Ohio for local shows, says that Simler boxed at the old Narrows Park Roller Rink almost 40 years ago when shows were being staged there by Albert "Bud" Brice, now of Bedford; James K. Ford, James F. "Jimmie" McGuire and Blake G. "Spooks" Lytle.

Chick once won a decision in a non-title bout with Lightweight Champion Freddie Welsh. In 1916 he broke three of Benny Leonard's ribs in a no-decision bout which caused postponement of the subsequent Leonard - Welsh title fight which Leonard won by K.O. in the 9th round in 1917.

ONE of the real veterans of minor league baseball, Clay Hopper, has resigned as manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League.

Clay will be remembered by local Middle Atlantic League fans as the manager of the Scottdale Club in 1931. Big Bill Lee, who won 22 games for the Scotties that year, later pitched for the Chicago Cubs.

There were 12 teams in the M.A. that year and Cumberland won the championship by taking four out of six playoff games. The Colts pitching "Big Four" were Vito Tamulis, Jimmy Densmore, "Chip" Helmick and Marvin "Lefty" Duke.

Hopper won three pennants in the 25 years he managed—Columbus, Ga., in the 1939 Sally League and Montreal in 1946 and 1948.

He finished out of the first division only twice during his long managerial career in the minors.

WICOMICO High School of Salisbury is still one of Maryland's undefeated and untied teams.

The Eastern Shore school posted its 7th consecutive victory on Friday, beating Annapolis, 20-0.

FREDERIC N. DODGE, president-publisher of the Fisherman Magazine, says if you can honestly answer "yes" to at least six of these questions you are made for fishing:

1. Would you prefer to go fishing than to see "My Fair Lady?"
2. Are you more particular with your fishing gear than you are with your spouse?

3. Do you think President Eisenhower would get more relaxation from fishing than playing golf?

4. Would you play hookey from your duties to go fishing?
5. Did you ever tell a fish story to impress someone?
6. Would you prefer to cook fish you caught than dine at swankiest seafood place in town on-the-house?
7. Do you consider people who don't fish "square?"
8. Do you refuse to discuss unsuccessful fishing trip with friends?
9. Have you ever lost your patience with people who continually ask, "Where do you get the patience to fish?"
10. Would you go into debt to finance a fishing trip?

Vance Named Mathias High Cage Mentor

"Jimmy" Succeeds Wendell Mathias

Loring H. "Jimmy" Vance, 24, former Moorefield High School basketball star, will be at the helm of the Mathias High School quint when the Hardy Countians launch their 1956-57 campaign next month.

Vance succeeds Wendell Mathias, who has been elevated to the post of Mathias principal after serving for many years as basketball and baseball mentor. Mathias took over as principal following the resignation of Robert Jarvis who accepted a principalship at Spottsylvania, Pa.

The new Mathias High mentor played baseball, football and basketball with Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield teams. He was on the cage squad for four seasons and was a member of the 1951 quint that won 17 consecutive games in the Potomac Valley Conference.

Vance was graduated from Berea, Ky., College in 1955.

He is a native of Moorefield.

Swaps Showing Recovery Progress

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 20 (INS)—Veterinarians said today that Swaps, California wonder horse, is showing definite progress in recovering from a leg injury received while training at Garden State Race Track Oct. 9.

X-rays disclosed that most of a fracture in the left hind leg had healed. The cast on the leg was replaced with a shorter one to protect a lower section of the canon bone which has not shown the same progress as the upper.

In addition to the new cast, the colt was fitted for a plastic mold to be placed over the hoof of the ailing leg so that gradually he can bring weight upon it without injury.

O'Donnell To Scout For Chicago Sox

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Veteran Scout Harry O'Donnell, former catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies and Philadelphia Athletics, today joined the Chicago White Sox scouting staff.

O'Donnell scouted for the Cleveland Indians from 1953 to 1956 and served in the same capacity for the Philadelphia Athletics from 1940 to 1952.

He will scout Pennsylvania, Western New York, Maryland, Washington, D. C., Northern West Virginia and Delaware. His home is at Levittown, Pa.

Five Teams Considered For Cotton Bowl Game

Pitt, Syracuse, Navy, Tennessee, And Tech Listed

DALLAS, Nov. 20 (AP) — Cotton Bowl President Bob Cullum said today five teams, including Georgia Tech and Tennessee, are being considered for the New Year's Day classic here.

He said the other teams under consideration are Syracuse, Pittsburgh and Navy.

Cotton Bowl officials were reported to have mentioned the University of Florida, but that school is under NCAA probation for two years.

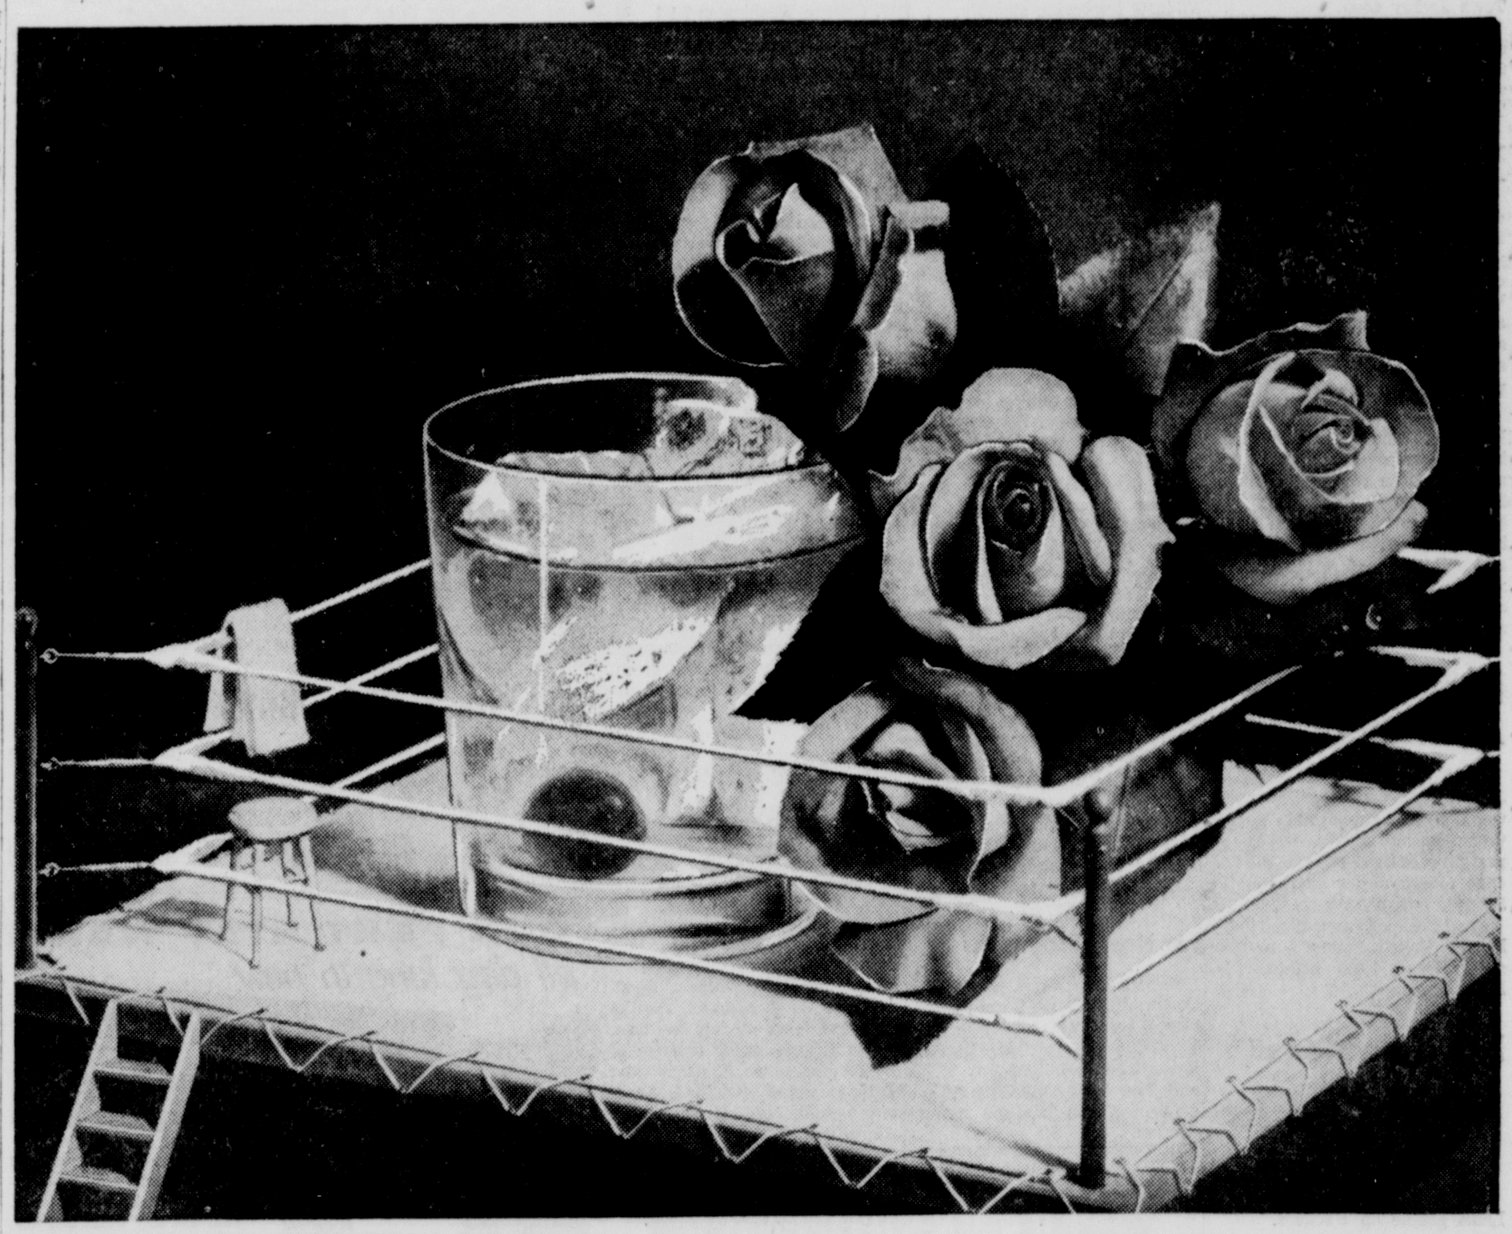

Officials of the Cotton Bowl are not expected to pick a visiting team until the host team role is filled. Texas A&M would qualify under ordinary conditions, but the Aggies are barred from post-season play due to their probationary status.

Texas Christian and Baylor are the most likely host teams as second place winners in the Southwest Conference, with the Frogs conceded the best chance. If the two teams finish in a tie, TCU would get the bid on the basis of its regular season victory over Baylor.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP) — A sprained ankle suffered in the Detroit Lions game will cost the Baltimore Colts the services of halfback L. G. Dupre for more than a week.

As a result, he'll miss next Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Rams in Baltimore.

Horsemen Want West Va. Racing Chairman Ousted

HBPA Head Says Ambrose Condoned Rules Violations

National President Sends Telegrams To Marland, Underwood

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Irving Gushen, national president of the Horsemen's Benevolent & Protective Assn. (HBPA) today called for the immediate ouster of John Ambrose, chairman of the West Virginia Racing Commission.

Gushen said Ambrose has "condoned flagrant violations of the West Virginia rules of racing while serving seemingly as the personal emissary of the Charles Town Jockey Club," operator of Charles Town Race Track.

Gushen urged Ambrose's immediate removal in telegrams to Gov. William C. Marland of West Virginia, Gov.-elect Cecil Underwood and Emmet Kelly, president of the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners.

Owners File Suit

Owners of winning horses have filed suit in the Federal District Court at Fairmont, W. Va., claiming they were short changed $166,836 by Charles Town and Waterford tracks, which are operated by A. J. Boyle.

They contend that amount is the difference, plus 30 per cent, between what they received in purses during summer meetings at the two tracks and 4 per cent of the total bet. The West Virginia Racing Commission has a rule requiring a minimum of 4 per cent of the amount bet to be put up as prize money.

The horsemen's claims are part of a protest which led to cancellation of the December meeting at Charles Town.

The race dates were rescinded at the Oct. 25 meeting of the racing commission which also fined Charles Town $250 a day for not meeting the minimum.

Defends Violations

In his wires calling for Ambrose's removal, Gushen said the commission chairman not only has "endorsed, sanctioned and defended Charles Town's violations. . . it is our belief that he has prejudiced his position as chairman of a quasijudicial body by acting as the personal representative of Albert J. Boyle and his associates by personally presenting their petitions for a license and dates. . ."

Boyle is president of the Charles Town Jockey Club.

The telegrams also were signed by Charles Gordon, president of the Maryland Division, HBPA, which has jurisdiction over Charles Town.

Gushen and Gordon asked Gov. Marland to immediately remove Ambrose.

The telegram to Gov.-elect Underwood "respectfully suggests that one of the first problems that your administration will have to consider is the makeup of the West Virginia Racing Commission." It added that Ambrose "does not serve the best interests of the state."

Want Ambrose Removed

In the wire to Kelly, the two HBPA officials asked that Ambrose be removed from all committees of the National Assn. of State Racing Commissioners "on the grounds that he has shown himself incapable of considering any problems involving the horsemen in an impartial manner. . . and has forfeited his right to be a member. . ."

Oliver Defeats Boros In Match Filmed For TV

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 20 (AP) Ed (Porky) Oliver, playing before a battery of cameras, today shot a 9-under-par 62 in a 6-hour trip around the Phoenix Country Club to win an unusual golf match.

Oliver went out in 32 and came back in 30 to edge Julius Boros in the first of a series of matches being filmed for release over television next spring. Boros carded a 35-33—68 on the par 36-35—71 layout.

The two teed off shortly after 9:30 a.m. and sank their final putts on the 18th green about 5:45 p.m.

Two trucks, three station wagons and a flock of motorized caddy carts lugged cameras, film supplies, sound equipment and operators from hole to hole.

There was a long delay before each stroke while the equipment was set up. The golfers occupied the time by taking practice shots.

Oliver, chunky veteran of the pro ranks, picked up $2,000 and the right to meet Mike Souchak in tomorrow's second match of the series, which is being played over various courses in the Phoenix and Tucson areas. Boros received $1,000 for his effort.

Sooners Are Back On Top In A. P. Poll

Iowa Jumps From Seventh To Third

[By The Associated Press]

The Oklahoma Sooners apparently won't stand for second best—in the national football ratings as well as on the playing field.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's red shirts have regained the top spot in the Associated Press poll after spending an unhappy week as runnerup to Tennessee.

Last week marked the second time this season Oklahoma dropped a notch in the balloting of sports writers and broadcasters and the effect on the ensuing Sooner opponent was devastating.

After losing the lead to Michigan State earlier this year, Oklahoma handed Notre Dame its first shutout since 1951, 40-0.

A better-than-average Missouri team suffered to the 10-touchdown tune of 67-14 after the Sooners lost the top rung by two votes to Tennessee.

So convincing was the performance by the defending national champions, who have 38 consecutive victories, that Oklahome rode back into first place by a 132 point bulge over the Vols.

Tennessee looked very good in rolling past Mississippi's defense-minded Rebels 27-7 but the 198 writers and broadcasters participating in the poll gave Oklahoma 111 first-place votes and 1,794 points to 69 firsts and 1,662 points for the unbeaten Vols.

Iowa jumped from seventh to third by grinding out a 6-0 Rose Bowl special over Ohio State to hand the Buckeyes their first Big 10 loss in 18 games.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses and won-lost records (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	Oklahoma (111) 8-0	1794
2.	Tennessee (69) 8-0	1662

Too Cold Water Is Not Good For A Dog

Dogs need plenty of fresh water during the cold weather months, but the water put out for them should not be too cold or allowed to freeze, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York.

According to Dr. A. A. Goodman, extension veterinarian of the Colorado A. & M. College, a healthy adult dog needs a minimum of one-third ounce of water for each pound of body weight. Thus an 18-pound dog should drink a minimum of six ounces of water or its equivalent in other liquids, each day. He can drink more to good advantage, since this is the very minimum amount needed to replace water normally lost through bodily functions. Sick dogs require considerably more water than the amount given, depending on the nature of the ailment.

Air Force Rejects Junior Bowl Bid

DENVER, Nov. 20 (AP) — The Air Force Academy announced today it has rejected a bid to send its football team to the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's day.

Col. Robert V. Whitlow, Academy director of athletics, said he had wired bowl officials that Gen. James Briggs, superintendent of the service school, "disapproved participation of Air Force Academy football team in post-season competition."

IN PHILS-CARDS TRADE—The Philadelphia Phillies yesterday traded right fielder Del Ennis, left, to the St. Louis Cardinals for infielder Bobby Morgan, center, and outfielder Rip Repulski, right. Morgan had gone from the Phillies to the Cards last May and may be used in a further swap with another team. Ennis batted .260 and drove in 95 Phils' runs last season. Phils Swap Del Ennis For Repulski, Morgan

Cards To Receive Minor Leaguer To Complete Trade

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20 (AP)—Outfielder Del Ennis, the backbone of the Philadelphia Phillies attack ever since he joined the club 11 years ago, today was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for outfielder Rip Repulski and utility infielder Bobby Morgan.

Ennis, 31, batted .260 last year, driving in 95 runs, hitting 26 home runs and collecting 164 hits. Repulski, 28, hit .277, batted home 55 runs, smacked 11 homers and totaled 104 hits.

Del Hits Long Ball

General Manager Roy Hamey made the deal on the premise he was getting a younger, faster and better defensive outfielder for the homebred Ennis, greatest home run hittr in the history of the club. Ennis hit 259 homers during his career with the Phillies.

Hamey said the decisive factor in the trade was the difference of nearly four years in the age of the two players. "Repulski is only 28 and that's a big thing," said Hamey.

The Phillies general manager said he and Frank Lane, general manager of the Cardinals, had been talking about the deal for days. "Naturally, the buy in the deal for us was Repulski. He's younger, a great spring hitter and a pretty good hitter all season. If he hadn't suffered a wrist injury last year he'd of hit even higher, I'm sure," Hamey said.

Hamey's Second Deal

The deal was the second in recent months made by Hamey who has vowed to trade anyone on the ball club but catcher Stan Lopata in his effort to rebuild the fifth place Phillies. Pitcher Jim Hearn recently was acquired from the New York Giants in exchange for Stu Miller, a hurler who later was sent to Minneapolis by New York.

Frank Lane, St. Louis general manager, said the Cardinals' crying need has been for power and Ennis should supply it. "He ranks as one of the outstanding power hitters in baseball," said Lane. He added that the Cardinals will receive a minor league player from the Phillies to be named later.

Morgan Is "Throw In"

Morgan, who went to the Cards last year in a straight trade by the Phillies for Solly Hemus, was described by Hamey as a "throw-in" in the deal. "I wanted to get more but couldn't do it.

"I had to settle for Morgan. He'll give us a little extra protection at second base and shortstop," the general manager said.

Ennis expressed surprise when informed of the trade. "I didn't expect it, but that's baseball. I'll give St. Louis everything I have just as I did Philadelphia."

Joe L. Brown Is Retained As Bucs' GM

Bragan To Continue As Field Manager

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20 (AP)—Joe L. Brown, who brought back boom days to Forbes Field after shunting Branch Rickey to an advisory role, today was re-named general manager for 1957—and perhaps even longer.

Terms of Brown's salary and the length of his contract were not disclosed. John Galbreath, the club's president who made the announcement, did say:

"It is a pleasure for me to make this announcement and I hope that Joe will continue to be associated with the Pirates for many years to come.

"This past year was a trying and challenging job for Joe and proved to be a most successful one. I am very well pleased with the recent progress of the Pirates and the Pittsburgh organization.

"It is generally felt that the Pirates now have the nucleus of a winning club. With more experience and the addition of one or two more players it can very well become a contender."

Brown declined to comment immediately on the retention of Bobby Bragan as Pirates field manager but left no doubt that Bragan is his choice and that an announcement will be forthcoming within 48 hours.

Brown, 37-year-old son of movie and TV comedian Joe E. Brown, said he's even more optimistic than he was last year and predicts even greater improvement in the 1957 Pirates.

Quarter Deck Cops Pimlico Feature Race

Pays $25.40 For $2, Favorites Run Out

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP) — Closing with a fine stretch rush, Christiana Stable's Quarter Deck under Arnold Kirkland was up in time to earn a nose decision in the Caroline County Purse, six furlong feature of the racing program at Pimlico today.

The time was 1.11 over a good track.

Quarter Deck scored his victory at the expense of Ridge Stable's But First and it was a heartbreaker for the latter to lose. He had maintained a slight advantage in the run through backstretch and around the turn and had opened up daylight in the home stretch, only to falter in the final stride.

Ada L. Rice's Pretty Plunger was third and Wayne Kendrick's Weeper's Boy fourth in the field of eight three-year-old sprinters. Most of the public support went to Twayblade and Will Of Allah but after displaying brief speed in the first quarter mile, they dropped out of it.

Quarter Deck paid $25.40 straight to the scattered followers he had in the crowd of 9,738.

Nittany Lions May Sidetrack Pitt Panthers

50,000 To Attend Saturday Contest

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20 (AP) — Penn State's Nittany Lions, a football team with more bounce to the ounce than a soda pop, gets a chance to sidetrack Pittsburgh's bowl-minded Panthers Saturday in their traditional battle at Pitt Stadium.

Pitt, rated No. 2 in the East, claims the better record against common opposition, beating both Army 20-7 and Syracuse 14-7. Penn State lost to Army 14-7 and to Syracuse 13-9.

An estimated 50,000 will watch the contest — No. 56 in the series that began in 1893. Pitt rules a one touchdown favorite, with a bowl bid hanging on the outcome. Last year, the Panthers thrashed the Lions 20-0 on their way to the Sugar Bowl.

Both teams carry identical 6-2 records into their football feud, with the all-time standings reading Pitt 31 victories and 22 for Penn State and two scoreless ties.

Ernie Hefferle, an assistant coach who has been spying for the Panthers, claims Penn State's got the "greatest defensive team I've ever seen. I'm scared."

Arno Hott Is New Coach At Capon Bridge

Will Head Cage Baseball Teams

Arno Hott, 32, of Augusta, W. Va., is the new basketball and baseball coach at Capon Bridge High School in Hampshire county.

He succeeds Cliff Towles, who resigned last June to coach at a school in his native state of Florida.

Hott is a graduate of Romney High School where he played a tackle position on Chuck Collette's 1943 eleven.

During his two-year stint in the service, Hott was stationed at Clark Field, Manila, where he was a member of Coach "Ace" Gutowski's 13th Air Force football team that won 28 consecutive games in two years.

A graduate of Shepherd College, Arno played football there in his freshman year. He is a cousin of George, Harlan and Warden Hott, all well known athletes from the Moorefield section.

Arno taught science, mathematics and physical education at Romney High School last year.

Collier To Coach In Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Blanton Collier, head football coach at the University of Kentucky, was named today to join the coaching staff of the Shrine East-West game to be played here Dec. 29.

Collier will replace Forest Evashevski of Iowa in the East staff. Iowa meets Oregon State in the Pasadena Rose Bowl on Jan. 1.

Japanese Deep Bow Wins Fans' Plaudits

MELBOURNE, Nov. 20 (AP)—An ancient Japanese custom — the deep bow — has made Japan's Olympic basketball team the darlings of Australian fans in pre-Olympics warmup games.

The Japanese team trots onto the floor in single file, forms large circle in mid-court and bows deeply to the audience. The invariable instantaneous reaction is a loud cheer and louder applause.

Lamar McHan Is Suspended By Cardinals

Refused To Drill, Was Fined $3,000 After Sunday Tilt

By BOB GLASS

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (INS)—The Chicago Cardinals, still in the running for the National Football League Eastern Division title, suspended star quarterback Lamar McHan today for "an indefinite period" on "gross insubordination" charges.

McHan's suspension came on the heels of a $3,000 fine levied after Sunday's 14-7 Cardinal loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers in Pittsburgh in which the former University of Arkansas star refused to go back into the game during the second half.

Refused To Practice

Managing director Walter Wolfner announced that McHan was suspended "because he refused to go out on the practice field at Comiskey Park today."

Wolfner said that McHan is being set down "for the good of the ball club."

Wolfner said that "the club has two other fine quarterbacks in Jim Root and John Roach" and added:

"As far as I'm concerned, we'll operate very well with them and without Mr. McHan."

McHan reported to Comiskey Park today but after going into the club offices, refused to take part in the practice or go onto the field.

The coaching staff agreed Sunday to levy the fine when McHan said he would not go back into the game when ordered to do so.

Coach Is Hospitalized

Head football Coach Ray Richards later entered a Pittsbufgh hospital because of a gall bladder attack. Richards did not return to Chicago until this afternoon and was not aware of McHan's suspension.

McHan himself has given no reason for his alleged actions.

Wolfner was outspoken about the whole incident but he said "We still have a good chance for the playoffs." he said:

"Both Root and Roach are excellent passers. Root has developed into a terrific ball handler and although Roach is only in his first year, he has come along very well.

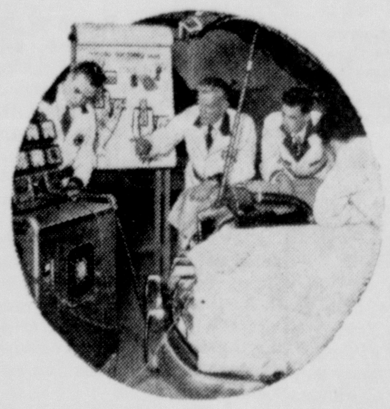

"There is no room on my ball club for players like McHan. I think that what the coaches have done and my action was made in the best interests of the club. I feel that our other quarterbacks are very capable of taking charge and doing the kind of job expected of them."

Cincinnati set a new attendance mark in 1956 when the Redlegs drew 1,125,928 fans.

Bill Barnes Nears 1,000 Rushing Mark

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 20 (AP)—Bullet Bill Barnes, who has gained more yards rushing in nine games this season than the entire Wake Forest team last fall, needs only eight yards tomorrow to complete his conquest of Atlantic Coast Conference ground-gaining records.

On the last three weekends the Wake Forest fullback has erased the school rushing record, the conference rushing record and most recently the conference total offense mark. Now with a total of 992 yards, eight more against South Carolina in Charlotte, N. C., tomorrow will make him the first "1,000-yard" back in ACC history.

Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors, announce that the cow produced 98 pounds of butterfat from 1,950 pounds of milk.

John T. Mason of Cresaptown is owner of the second and third top producers. His artifically bred registered Holstein, 51-B0080 produced 86 pounds of butterfat from 1,750 pounds of milk.

Col. V. J. Huffman, Baltimore, divisional commander of the Salvation Army, is recuperating from a heart attack suffered about two weeks ago, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Salvation Army Citadel.

Two Autos Collide On Greene Street

One man was slightly injured yesterday about 4:15 p.m. when two cars collided on Greene Street in front of the A&P Market.

Officer Warren Brehm of the City Police Department said Steven Bassell, 37, of 424 Walnut Street, was treated at Memorial Hospital for brush burns of the right knee, and lacerations and contusions of the forehead. Bassel was a passenger in a car driven by Charles Sims, Bedford Street.

Brehm said witnesses reported Sims' car was headed east when an automobile operated by Victor C. Kallmyer, 500 Arnett Terrace, turned left into the market driveway and the two cars collided. Damage to the vehicles was estimated at over $400.

Legend says that Esh Sham (Damascus), the capital of Syria, was founded by Noah's grandson a few years after the great flood. Esh Sham is reputed to be the oldest continuously inhabited city.

Local Man Reports Loss Of Equipment

Neal G. Wilson, 424 Warwick Avenue, reported the loss of approximately $400 worth of tools and equipment Monday night on Liberty Street.

Wilson, a restaurant equipment wholesale dealer, told city police he was delivering some equipment to a restaurant on Liberty Street and removed the tools and other items in two cardboard boxes from his car.

He said he placed the boxes on the sidewalk while making the delivery and inadvertently drove off without them. When he returned later the boxes were missing, Wilson said.

Sentence Deferred In Theft Of Money

Magistrate Donald W. Mason deferred sentence for James Cassell, 44, of 427 Virginia Avenue, after Cassell pleaded guilty to the theft of $85 from a shoe repair shop on Greene Street earlier this month.

Mason said he would withhold sentence pending arrangements of Cassell to make restitution of the sum taken from the business establishment November 3.

The defendant was remanded to Allegany County Jail pending disposition of the case.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOL, Nov. 20 (INS) — When I was told that Tyrone Power was signed by Arthur Hornblow Jr. to head the cast of "Witness for the Prosecution" I said, "Oh, I printed that." The truth of the matter is that I had discussed the Agatha Christie play with Ty in London when he said he was considering making it, but nothing definite was decided until a few days ago when Arthur and Ed Small made a deal with Copy Productions (the Power-Richmond independent organization) to film the popular melodrama.

Billy Wilder, the director, will film most of the picture in Hollywood, although camera crews have been shooting interiors and exteriors in and around London for the past few weeks.

One of the most generous and nicest gestures I've heard of in a long time is Joseph Schenck's endowment to the UCLA medical school for research.

The board of regents will receive word tomorrow that Mr. Schenck will grant scholarships to deserving young scientists and doctors who may want to do special research.

This is a fine thing and characteristic of Joseph Schenck's generosity.

My morning started very pleasantly with a visit from four beautiful Japanese girls, all airline stewardesses who worked in "Teahouse of the August Moon." The girls, Kikuko Saski, Tamie Kawamoto, Fumiko Shiba and Seiko Fukasawa, carried a huge box all the way from Tokyo for me, and in it was a beautiful Japanese doll. She was already named Lotus Flower.

The Japanese beauties were a picture in their native costumes in pastel shades. They made an appearance tonight at the premiere of "Teahouse of the August Moon" and they'll visit the key cities where the picture opens. My house was their first stop and was the first American home they'd ever seen.

I have fallen hard for Bruce Morgan, baby son of Yvonne De Carlo and Bob Morgan. Yvonne and Bob's bright little Bruce stopped by my house to pay me a visit.

Tomorrow is the first wedding anniversary of the Morgans and they will celebrate by going to the premiere of Death of a Scoundrel" in which both Yvonne and Bob appear. I offered to babysit for them anytime. The baby never cried once all during their visit.

Yvonne and Bob have just bought a ranch and already have five horses which they ride in their leisure time.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Mrs. Hal Wallis (Louise Fazenda) is out of danger following major surgery.

Fifty bound volumes of clippings and other memorabilia from 1916 to 1936 have been donated by Richard Barthelmess to the Academy library.

All the ambitious young actresses in Hollywood were eager to meet Susan Strasberg at the cocktail party William Dozier gave honoring her and Henry Fonda.

Ann Blyth tested for Helen Morgan, and Roberta Linn told me at the Larry Finley show that she made her test last week.

Spike Jones, Jerry Grey and Sarah Vaughan also on hand to applaud Larry. Spike has a new album with 36 songs — all in one book yet.

Gene Kelly, back to spend Thanksgiving with his daughter, Kerry, showed his picture, "The Happy Road," to Gary Cooper and Maurice Chevalier the day before he left Paris and reports are good.

Call Roy Rogers' horse trigger "Bluebird" now. The seven-year-old Campfire Girls at Campbell Hall School inducted him into their organization as their mascot.

June Allyson's mother, Mrs. William Brenner, and June's stepfather will celebrate their first Thanksgiving in 13 years with her. The Brenners are visiting at the Dick Powell home.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

You can play it coy on a bus, cagey in a cornfield, clever in a haystack or plain dumb in a motel... but "YOU CAN'T RUN AWAY FROM IT"

Our case in point. The socialite with the lovely gams, the light-hearted headline-hunter and how they sang, danced, made love on a highway with a joy that would make you think they invented it. Somewhat spicy. Certainly saucy. And without doubt the most wonderful movie in maybe 20 years.

Always "comb" out a hair set with a brush. Be sure to brush until every strand is separated and then adjust waves with hairbrush. You can turn curls over the fingers with brush.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Let's Get Set

"I have to set my hair every night as it is so fine and doesn't hold between appointments. Could you tell me the correct way of making pin-curls?" writes a stenographer from New Orleans.

You should try to follow the established lines of your set. If you are setting your hair after a shampoo, always start with the section of hair to be curled (about an inch-square section) and pull straight up from the scalp and thoroughly comb through until smooth. If you wear a part, begin at that point. Set pin curls across the brow on each side to the temple. With a partless hair style, move along the brow from temple to temple.

You always complete the entire front section first. Then work from the ear to the center back on both sides.

When making pin curls, always turn them from the ends toward the scalp and pull the strands in the direction you wish them to lie after combing out. Keep in mind that if you want a loose curl, wrap ends under the curl.

Stragglers, unruly hair, or short wisps on the nape can be controlled by spray-on liquids, known as "veils" or "nets." Brush a wisp of hair into position and spray on liquid. If you don't touch the wisp again, it will stay in place for hours. If you want to save money and make your own hair-dressing, here is a very fine homemade substitute for hair lacquer. Cut two lemons in slices. Add water to cover. Boil until thickness of liquid indicates all lemon juice has been extracted. Strain. The remaining mixture can be used for grooming the hair in the same way a lacquer is used --and successfully.

Tomorrow—Hands tell a story.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 club	Double	Pass	1 spade
1 no trp.	Double	2 diams.	2 spades
Pass	3 no trp	Pass	4 spades
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of diamonds.

Pitfalls, in bidding, play and defense were set up when today's hand was molded.

West chose to open with an introductory bid of one club though he had the standard requirements for a one no trump call. North's double with a singleton spade was extremely risky, but he feared that he might be shut out of a profitable heart contract if he delayed action. South bid rather aggressively and was catapulted into a spade game, when he found his partner's three no trump bid distasteful, though it will be observed such a contract could not have been defeated.

West opened the ace of diamonds with the vague hope of obtaining a third round ruff, but changed his mind when the foreboding combination appeared in dummy. He shifted to a club and declarer won with dummy's king. On the spade lead from dummy, East played low and the queen went to West's ace. Not even remotely suspecting that partner held the trump king., West continued with a club. Declarer chose to finesse and won the trick with the jack. Lack of caution at this point will lead to the defeat of the contract. If South follows the course of least resistance, and plays the jack of spades to drive out the king, West will develop the setting trick by way of the nine of spades.

South cautiously played a low spade. Playing high would prove advantageous only if trumps were 3-3 which did not seem likely. If West proved to have AK9X, then no line of play could prevent the loss of three tricks. But when the low spade brought forth East's king, declarer was able to pick up the entire suit with the loss of but two tricks.

Despite declarer's perfect technique, West could have defeated the contract by a play which on the surface appeared to be highly unattractive, namely, the second round of diamonds. Now when East is in the king of trumps a third round of diamonds builds up West's nine of spades.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Q I B L F P W D H X L Z H H R C H J Q M T •
Q M V B L F C G H K I L I W X P Q M V , R H C •
P W R G Q X Q G M ' X G L — J L C K H B .

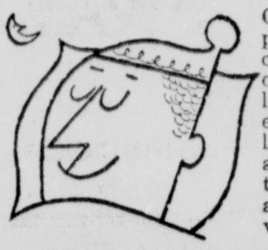

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: HE WHO CAN, DOES. HE WHO CANNOT, TEACHES—SHAW.

Property Board Takes Oath Of Office Here

William S. Jenkins Will Be Chairman

The three members of the newly-appointed Board of Property Review of Allegany County, who will hear condemnation cases involving the Maryland State Roads Commission and property owners, were sworn in yesterday afternoon by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

They are William S. Jenkins, local lawyer, William M. George, engineer, and Charles L. Kopp, former superintendent of county public schools.

They were appointed by the four judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, comprising Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

During an organizational meeting yesterday Mr. Jenkins was named chairman of the board. Similar boards will be appointed in other counties throughout the state.

Two-Year Terms

Each member will serve a term of two years from June 1, 1956, when the law forming such a board went into effect. The group will come under the jurisdiction of the court and will be paid per diem allowances by the appointing authority.

The power and duty of the group is to hear all cases certified to it by the SRC and determine the amount of the award to be paid by the commission.

They have the authority to determine what portion of the award if any should be paid to the property owner. In a condemnation suit both sides may have counsel. After testimony is heard the board will view the property affected and place a value on it.

30-Day Appeal Limit

In the event the SRC or property owner is dissatisfied, either has the right in 30 days to appeal to the Circuit Court or the Superior Court of Baltimore County, depending on the jurisdiction.

Condemnation cases pending in court on or after June 1 of this year in which the SRC is plaintiff may with written approval of the commission and property owner and with the consent of the Court having jurisdiction be certified to the Board of Review for their determination.

In cases where the appeal is sought by the property owner, the defendant will notify the SRC in writing and the SRC in turn will prepare and file the condemnation case in the proper Court. The case shall be heard de novo and as if there had been no hearing before the Board of Property Review.

Nimble Hands Do The Trick

Mrs. Audrey Hedrick, Bedford Road, hems an apron she is making in preparation for Christmas. Blind since she was 9, she has been brushing up on her sewing skills and is wearing a dress she recently completed. Dresses she made for her two daughters are nearby.

Blind Mother Adds Sewing To Homemaking Skills

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

"When the Lord is on your side it goes a lot better," is the motto of Mrs. Audrey Hedrick, Bedford Road, who has learned to overcome what is considered one of life's most serious handicaps—the loss of sight.

At 28 she is happily married to Earl H. Hedrick, a World War II veteran employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here. They have two children, Norma Jean, 9, and Constance Elaine, 7, both students of Gephart School.

Blind since she was 9, Mrs. Hedrick sails through all the normal housewife's duties and has been brushing up in recent weeks on sewing skills, so she can make garments for herself and her daughters.

"You Catch On"

Sewing, she said, is not so hard as it looks, "once you catch on."

Mrs. Hedrick uses a standard model sewing machine and, with help on gadgets from her husband and instruction by Mrs. Margielea Stonestreet See, home teacher for the blind, gets along fine.

The major change in technique is that patterns she uses are cut from wrapping paper and marked with braille for identification.

The hem gauge she uses is a standard one, with measurements filed by her husband who once learned the watchmaker's trade. Staples are used to mark the inches on the measuring tape which Mrs. Hedrick uses.

Tailor tacks serve to mark perforations on patterns, and safety pins are placed to aid in matching seams.

She has to depend on others also for one task — marking the points where stripes are to meet.

Takes Special Courses

Years ago, when Mrs. Hedrick attended the Maryland School for the Blind, she learned sewing skills and has been taking a refresher course from Mrs. See.

In recent years, she has found time off from her home duties to take correspondence courses in English and safety in the home.

An active member of Second Baptist Church, she is a former Sunday school teacher there, where her husband is now serving as a teacher.

All members of the family attend church and Sunday school services and take an active part in the program of the church.

The lack of sight has proved only a minor handicap, if it can be called a handicap at all, in taking care of her home.

Mrs. Hedrick uses all of the standard electrical appliances found in the home and even keeps up the fires in the furnace when her husband is at work.

She does all of her own baking and cooking but admits she has to ask help occasionally, when preparations gang up on her as she is completing a meal which features fried foods.

Heart Group Plans Report Dinner Session

A meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association will be held Friday, November 30, at Central YMCA with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. followed by a business session at 8 p. m.

Members of the board of directors, the medical advisory board, branch and community chairmen and interested members will be welcomed at the session, according to Ernest B. Treat, president.

The program will include activity reports of the operation and services of the association for the past fiscal period, with plans for the future and a report on the coming Heart Fund campaign held annually in February.

At a meeting of the association's executive committee last night, the president was authorized to appoint a campaign chairman and have a campaign budget prepared for the board's approval.

Action was taken on several emergency cases after reports were made by Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary. Mrs. Lewis also reported that the case load of the association has doubled in the past two months, and requests for health, home and educational services of the association are increasing steadily.

Former Local Man Is Found Hanged In Cell

A former Cumberland man was found dead in a cell in Jefferson County Jail in Charles Town, W. Va., last night, and authorities said he had hanged himself with his belt.

The body of Louis George Stein, 47, was discovered at 6:45 p. m. by Jailer Raymond Boyer as he checked the prisoners.

Dr. Mildred Williams, Charles Town physician, acted as coroner and issued a verdict of suicide. She said Stein had been dead about 10 minutes when his body was found.

Police said the former local man had been employed at Charles Town Race Track as a stableman and trainer. He had been residing at the track during the racing season there.

He was arrested Monday night on a minor charge. Police said Jailer Boyer had checked on the prisoners about 15 or 20 minutes before Stein's body was discovered.

Stein formerly was employed as a stereotype-pressman at the Times and Alleganian Company, a position he left in 1943. He was divorced. Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Laura Stein, 605 North Mechanic Street. His father was the late George W. Stein.

Also surviving are three brothers, Eugene B. Stein, Paul J. Stein Sr., and Ralph Stein, all of Cumberland; two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Mauer, Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Grace Sell, Washington, D. C.; a son, William Eugene Stein, and a daughter Dorothy Lou Stein, both of College Park.

The body is at the Smith and Strider Funeral Home in Charles Town.

Deaths

Other officers to serve with him are Frederick D. Jackson Jr., vice president; Robert L. Martin, treasurer; Ronald D. Hansrote, secretary; Jack Hare, chaplain, and John R. Diamond, sergeant at arms.

Plans were completed for the Christmas dance, which will be held December 28 at Ali Ghan Country Club. Music will be from 9 until 1 o'clock, by the Midnighters. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the association.

The committee for the shrimp party, under the chairmanship of Hansrote, was congratulated for the successful party.

Symphony Concert Heard By Enthusiastic Audience

Over 400 persons attended the fall concert of the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra which was held last night at Allegany High School auditorium.

Wilton Sykes, conductor, announced from the stage prior to an encore that the audience was the largest and most enthusiastic in the 11 years that concerts have been held here by the group.

"Syncopated Clock" by Leroy Anderson was played by the orchestra as an encore. The opening selection was the "Zampa overture" by Herold.

This was followed by an "Oklahoma" selection by Rodgers. Following an intermission the orchestra played "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms.

Next on the program was the Largo from "New World Symphony" by Dvorak. "Over the Rainbow" by Harburg-Arlen was followed by "Slavonic Dance No. 1" by Szell.

Sykes announced that the next concert by the local civic orchestra will be held sometime early in February.

The committees were named Monday as the Advisory Board met to approve plans for the Salvation Army's Christmas Cheer program in the Cumberland area.

15,000 Take Advantage Of Equivalence Program

Some 15,000 certificates have been awarded during the past 15 years of the Maryland Certificate of High School Equivalence program.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of public schools of Allegany County, announced yesterday that hundreds of persons have taken advantage of the program in this county over the years.

Describing it as a "wonderful program," he said it is an opportunity for many persons who did not receive a high school diploma to get an equivalence certificate

Those who became unsatisfied during their high school education, or who left the classroom to help support a family, or who didn't think they would need a diploma have taken advantage of the tests.

Included are a number of prominent persons throughout the county. A series of five tests in grammar, literature, science, history and social studies, and mathematics are given in the program.

Only recently Mr. Webster was approached by a worker who did not complete high school, but needed a certificate in order to get an advancement at the factory where he works. Arrangements have been made for him to take the tests.

Adult courses are now being conducted in Cumberland in order that preparation may be made for the tests.

In 1941 the Maryland General Assembly authorized the State Board of Education to administer examinations leading to the Maryland Certificate of high School Equivalence which "Shall be the legal equivalent of a high school diploma and which in addition shall be accepted as meeting the State requirements of a high school education for admission to the study of the various professions and vocations."

Persons interested in taking the examinations are asked to contact the Board of Education for further information.

Coal Trains Move Out Of Area Yards

Two of five coal trains stranded in the Knobmount Yards of the Western Maryland Railway here yesterday moved east last night as the jam in marshaling yards at the Port of Baltimore caused by the Longshoremen strike eased.

The trains left here at 5:45 p. m. and 7 p. m. and railway officials said other traffic was moving on schedule.

The Western Maryland operates its own coal piers at Port Covington in the Port of Baltimore, and the bulk loading facilities there are not directly affected by the strike.

The American Association of American Railroads called an embargo Monday on railroad freight shipments to East and Gulf Coast ports.

This was to prevent unloaded freight cars from standing idle in ports affected by the longshoremen's strike.

The coal trains held here were in transit at the time the embargo was called, a railroad spokesman said.

The Western Maryland's yards at Port Covington and Hagerstown were full, causing the five trains containing 650 cars to be held back at the Ridgeley yards.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Cumberland Division has not been affected as yet, but a spokesman said he did not have any information about the Brunswick and Baltimore yard situation.

In Baltimore, railroads reported about 6,000 cars loaded with export commodities backed up in the area. Most cars contained coal and grain.

Winter To Close Down Highway Projects Soon

Route 135 Work Folds UpThis Week

Wintry blasts will soon clamp down on highway construction work in Western Maryland.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission, said yesterday most of the road jobs will close down about the first of December.

One job will fold up within a day or two, allowing the public to take advantage of the road improvement.

This is the relocation of 2.86 miles of Route 135, between Deer Park and Swanton in Garrett County.

Chaires said the $508,000 contract let to the Hazelwood Construction Company is in the final stages, with the only remaining work being the installation of some gutters, seeding and related work.

The remaining tasks, which must await good weather, will not affect the use of the modernized road.

Other phases of the construction industry are planning to work throughout the winter.

Typical is the work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program, which is being pushed by the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, and the Hazelwood Construction Company here.

Work on the $34,000,000 Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 here will also be pushed in order to meet production schedules.

Weather is not expected to cause any particular delay in Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant, which is scheduled to go into production in March.

Equity Suit Opinion Filed By Henderson

Chief Judge George Henderson has filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court which holds that the capital-gains distribution from an investment company should be considered a return of capital rather than income.

The opinion was filed in an equity suit in which Mrs. Virginia L. Lashley was the plaintiff. She is the life tenant under the will of her deceased husband, Conda G. Lashley. She had asked the court to pass on a number of questions which had arisen in connection with her administration of the trust estate involved.

Mrs. Lashley, as trustee and life tenant, invested $24,410 of the principal of the estate in purchasing 1,000 shares of Axe-Houghton Fund B, Inc. In January of this year there was a stock split and there are now 3,000 shares.

The question Judge Henderson was asked to decide was whether the life tenant is entitled to consider the capital gains distribution, which she received from the fund early in 1956, as income, or whether it must be considered as a return of capital and added to the principal, less any capital gains tax which must be paid thereon.

Judge Henderson concludes his nine-page opinion with the statement that Mrs. Lashley will consider and report as additions to principal all sums received by her from Axe-Houghton Fund B, Inc. as "distribution of capital gains." She may charge against these capital gains any income tax which she has to pay thereon.
